

Ingrid Kaldwin

Character Dossier

Patient as stone alchemist of Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars

Overview

Ingrid Kaldwin is a alchemist living in Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars. Ingrid is 50 years old, originally from Elmsworth, and is known around Dome C as patient as stone. In conversation Ingrid narrates their own actions under their breath.

Background

Ingrid arrived in Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars 26 years ago after leaving Elmsworth under circumstances Ingrid describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Bellwether Cooperative; the second was the one that stuck. Today Ingrid works as a alchemist near the water reclaimer and is paid, when paid at all, in co-op shares.

Ingrid learned the trade from Bram Marchetti, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Ingrid's life is with Ulla Marchetti, over a matter neither will explain. The person Ingrid trusts most is Wendeline Larkspur.

Current goal: to earn the title of master before turning fifty. Greatest fear: birds indoors.

Personality and speech

Temperament: patient as stone.

Speech pattern: Ingrid narrates their own actions under their breath.

Tells: when lying, Ingrid mentions Cinder the hawk for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Ingrid Kaldwin
Role	alchemist
Home	Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars
Hometown	Elmsworth
Age	50
Favourite dish	festival sesame brittle
Pet	Cinder, a hawk
Lucky number	228

Workshop password	jade-hollow
Mentor	Bram Marchetti
Rival	Ulla Marchetti
Closest friend	Wendeline Larkspur

Secret

Ingrid once turned down an offer from the Bellwether Cooperative that would have made them rich, and wonders about it nightly.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Ingrid: I am the alchemist. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Ingrid: Festival sesame brittle. Do not tell Ulla I said so.

Visitor: Is Cinder yours?

Ingrid: Cinder belongs to nobody. Cinder tolerates me. Lucky number is 228, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, spring of year 6

Ingrid repaired the pair of spectacles at Dome C for Ulla, who paid in 10 co-op shares and a long story about the singing at the docks. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Dome C. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 2, summer of year 6

A dispute over the comet flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At Dome C, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Dome C. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 3, spring of year 6

Calloway came by asking about the new curfew. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ingrid won 61 co-op shares on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid won 79 co-op shares on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper. At the rover garage, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 4, autumn of year 6

At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Ingrid closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 5, spring of year 7

Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. Ingrid closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 6, autumn of year 7

Ingrid closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the commons, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 7, summer of year 7

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 65 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 8, autumn of year 7

Ingrid found a bolt of linen half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ingrid was hired to carry a tin whistle from the water reclaimer to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 9, autumn of year 7

Rowan came by asking about the new curfew. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the commons. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the commons. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 10, summer of year 7

Ingrid found a ledger half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ingrid found a cracked compass half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 39 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 11, autumn of year 7

Jorah came by asking about who really won the regatta. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the census flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid won 66 co-op shares on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 12, summer of year 7

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 60 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Ingrid closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Dome C. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 13, winter of year 8

Ingrid found a iron kettle half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ingrid found a wax seal half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta.

Entry 14, autumn of year 8

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 38 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the clockwork bird indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census. Halcyon came by asking about the quarantine. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 15, autumn of year 8

Ingrid was hired to carry a iron kettle from the seed vault to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the seed vault. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the comet reached the seed vault. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the cracked compass indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 16, summer of year 8

The weather turned. Ingrid moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 17, summer of year 8

The weather turned. Ingrid moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. Ingrid won 26 co-op shares on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Ingrid won 58 co-op shares on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 18, spring of year 8

Ingrid was hired to carry a glass float from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ingrid closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on.

Zelda came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 19, autumn of year 8

Ingrid repaired the bolt of linen at Dome C for Katarina, who paid in 38 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. Ingrid found a sextant half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ingrid was hired to carry a wax seal from Dome C to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 20, spring of year 8

Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the seed vault. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ingrid won 40 co-op shares on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid won 75 co-op shares on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper. At the seed vault, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 21, spring of year 8

Ingrid won 48 co-op shares on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid repaired the coil of rope at the water reclaimer for Kwame, who paid in 56 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. Ingrid closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 22, autumn of year 8

Ingrid closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Ingrid won 14 co-op shares on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid found a brass lantern half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At Dome C, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 23, spring of year 8

Ingrid closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 24, summer of year 8

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the rover garage, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 25, autumn of year 9

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the rover garage. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the rover garage. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 26, summer of year 9

Ingrid was hired to carry a iron kettle from Dome C to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ingrid won 74 co-op shares on a bet about the census and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 27, summer of year 9

Ingrid was hired to carry a clockwork bird from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the old tunnels. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 28, autumn of year 9

Teodora came by asking about the tax on doors. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ingrid won 65 co-op shares on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 29, winter of year 10

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 30, winter of year 10

Ingrid won 72 co-op shares on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid found a glass float half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 31, autumn of year 10

Ingrid repaired the coil of rope at the seed vault for Kenji, who paid in 4 co-op shares and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Ingrid repaired the iron kettle at the seed vault for Imogen, who paid in 45 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. At the seed vault, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 32, spring of year 10

Rumours about the new curfew reached the rover garage. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census. At the rover garage, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. At the rover garage, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 33, summer of year 11

Rumours about the missing shipment reached the rover garage. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the cracked compass indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 34, winter of year 11

At the seed vault, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real signal flag from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid won 32 co-op shares on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 35, summer of year 11

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Ingrid was hired to carry a iron kettle from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 36, summer of year 11

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 17 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. Ingrid was hired to carry a spool of wire from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ingrid found a wax seal half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 37, spring of year 12

Ingrid won 83 co-op shares on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. At the seed vault, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. At the seed vault, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora came by asking about the harvest count. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 38, summer of year 12

Xavier came by asking about the harvest count. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Oduya came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora came by asking about the comet. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 39, winter of year 12

Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the commons. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the commons: 33 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 40, autumn of year 12

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ingrid won 3 co-op shares on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper. Lucienne came by asking about the new curfew. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 41, spring of year 13

At Dome C, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Greta came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 42, spring of year 13

At Dome C, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 75 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 43, spring of year 13

The weather turned. Ingrid moved the pair of spectacles indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the old tunnels. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 44, spring of year 13

Phaedra came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Dome C, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Corvina came by asking about the missing shipment. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 45, spring of year 13

Ingrid won 19 co-op shares on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid won 78 co-op shares on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 35 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Lucienne came by asking about the new curfew. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 46, summer of year 13

Rumours about the census reached the rover garage. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ingrid repaired the tin whistle at the rover garage for Bram, who paid in 7 co-op shares and a long story about the old tunnels. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the wax seal indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew. At the rover garage, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 47, summer of year 13

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 48, spring of year 13

Ingrid won 65 co-op shares on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid won 73 co-op shares on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid was hired to carry a clockwork bird from Dome C to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 49, autumn of year 14

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 50, autumn of year 14

A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ingrid found a clockwork bird half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Dorothea came by asking about who really won the regatta. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 51, autumn of year 14

The weather turned. Ingrid moved the grain scale indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ingrid repaired the brass lantern at the seed vault for Zeph, who paid in 13 co-op shares and a long story about the tax on doors.

Entry 52, autumn of year 14

Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about the quarantine reached Dome C. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 53, autumn of year 14

Ingrid repaired the spool of wire at the rover garage for Astrid, who paid in 16 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ingrid was hired to carry a ledger from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 54, winter of year 14

Ingrid was hired to carry a cracked compass from Dome C to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the ledger indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt.

Entry 55, summer of year 14

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the old tunnels. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ingrid was hired to carry a grain scale from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Ingrid repaired the clockwork bird at the water reclaimer for Jasper, who paid in 36 co-op shares and a long story about the harvest count.

Entry 56, spring of year 14

A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached Dome C. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 57, spring of year 14

Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 58, summer of year 14

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 86 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Ingrid repaired the grain scale at Dome C for Cassius, who paid in 24 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ingrid won 76 co-op shares on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 59, winter of year 14

Ingrid repaired the brass lantern at the rover garage for Juniper, who paid in 33 co-op shares and a long story about the new curfew. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Ingrid found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 60, winter of year 14

Ingrid won 13 co-op shares on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Ingrid was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the commons to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the commons, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Ingrid closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 61, summer of year 15

Ingrid closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the hand bell indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. Ingrid closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the commons: 72 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short.

Entry 62, summer of year 15

Ingrid found a bolt of linen half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid was hired to carry a spool of wire from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 63, winter of year 15

The weather turned. Ingrid moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid was hired to carry a copper pipe from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 64, spring of year 15

Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Ingrid closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Ingrid won 22 co-op shares on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 65, summer of year 15

Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the seed vault. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 66, summer of year 15

Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the missing shipment. Ingrid repaired the ledger at Dome C for Cassius, who paid in 40 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 67, winter of year 15

Rumours about the harvest count reached the commons. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ingrid closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 68, autumn of year 15

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 59 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid won 73 co-op shares on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 69, winter of year 15

Ingrid found a sack of salt half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ingrid won 23 co-op shares on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on supper. Benedikt came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid repaired the wax seal at the commons for Xiomara, who paid in 15 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 70, summer of year 15

A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid was hired to carry a tin whistle from the rover garage to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ingrid repaired the spool of wire at the rover garage for Benedikt, who paid in 46 co-op shares and a long story about the comet.

Entry 71, winter of year 15

Ingrid found a sextant half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 68 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 54 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 72, summer of year 15

Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Ingrid found a grain scale half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 73, winter of year 15

Ingrid repaired the hand bell at the rover garage for Rowan, who paid in 9 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Ingrid repaired the tin whistle at the rover garage for Tallulah, who paid in 65 co-op shares and a long story about the missing shipment. Ingrid was hired to carry a signal flag from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 74, spring of year 15

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 11 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the quarantine. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 75, autumn of year 15

Ingrid won 29 co-op shares on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid found a bolt of linen half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the commons, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 76, summer of year 15

Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. Ingrid found a bolt of linen half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 77, autumn of year 15

Greta came by asking about the missing shipment. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the hand bell indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census.

Entry 78, spring of year 15

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 79, summer of year 15

Zora came by asking about the harvest count. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ingrid won 20 co-op shares on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper. Ingrid closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 67 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short.

Entry 80, spring of year 15

Ingrid closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the copper pipe indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the rover garage. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 81, winter of year 15

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 82, summer of year 15

Ingrid repaired the copper pipe at Dome C for Ignatius, who paid in 55 co-op shares and a long story about the old tunnels. Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 83, winter of year 15

The weather turned. Ingrid moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew. Ingrid closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Ingrid closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 84, spring of year 15

A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the hand bell indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 85, autumn of year 15

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 2 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Ingrid repaired the brass lantern at Dome C for Umberto, who paid in 13 co-op shares and a long story about the tariff on salt. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 47 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Ingrid repaired the hand bell at Dome C for Kestrel, who paid in 44 co-op shares and a long story about the census. Ysolde came by asking about the old tunnels. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 86, autumn of year 15

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. Ingrid found a glass float half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the seed vault, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right. At the seed vault, Ingrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 87, winter of year 15

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ingrid and a neighbour outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 88, winter of year 15

Ingrid closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the sextant indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. Ingrid repaired the coil of rope at the rover garage for Viggo, who paid in 4 co-op shares and a long story about the tariff on salt. Ingrid found a iron kettle half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.