

Zora Grimsby

Character Dossier

Warm, nosy and impossible to offend acrobat of Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987

Overview

Zora Grimsby is a acrobat living in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987. Zora is 69 years old, originally from Stonebridge, and is known around the Falls Diner as warm, nosy and impossible to offend. In conversation Zora refuses to say the word 'no' outright.

Background

Zora arrived in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987 11 years ago after leaving Stonebridge under circumstances Zora describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Lumen Falls town council; the second was the one that stuck. Today Zora works as a acrobat near Route 12 gas station and is paid, when paid at all, in dollars.

Zora learned the trade from Seraphine Norwood, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Zora's life is with Matthias Ellery, over a matter neither will explain. The person Zora trusts most is Octavia Blackwater.

Current goal: to reopen the shop their parents lost. Greatest fear: being seen to cry.

Personality and speech

Temperament: warm, nosy and impossible to offend.

Speech pattern: Zora refuses to say the word 'no' outright.

Tells: when lying, Zora mentions Thimble the fox for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Zora Grimsby
Role	acrobat
Home	Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987
Hometown	Stonebridge
Age	69
Favourite dish	twice-cooked spiced pumpkin dumplings
Pet	Thimble, a fox
Lucky number	855

Workshop password	lattice-plume
Mentor	Seraphine Norwood
Rival	Matthias Ellery
Closest friend	Octavia Blackwater

Secret

Zora cannot actually read the old script everyone assumes they can, and has memorised the important pages.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Zora: I am the acrobat. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Zora: Twice-cooked spiced pumpkin dumplings. Do not tell Matthias I said so.

Visitor: Is Thimble yours?

Zora: Thimble belongs to nobody. Thimble tolerates me. Lucky number is 855, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, spring of year 4

Zora repaired the sextant at the Falls Diner for Liora, who paid in 18 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Rumours about the tax on doors reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 2, winter of year 4

A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora was hired to carry a sextant from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 3, spring of year 4

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Pilar came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora was hired to carry a sextant from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 4, autumn of year 4

Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 16 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Zora moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 5, winter of year 5

Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 14 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Zora was hired to carry a cracked compass from the shuttered paper mill to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 5 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 54 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.

Entry 6, summer of year 5

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora won 24 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. Thaddeus came by asking about the tariff on salt. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 7, summer of year 5

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Zora moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. Zora won 64 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 8, spring of year 5

The weather turned. Zora moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the missing shipment. Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 80 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short.

Entry 9, spring of year 6

The weather turned. Zora moved the coil of rope indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 7 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Zora was hired to carry a grain scale from the shuttered paper mill to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 10, winter of year 6

Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 2 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Rumours about the comet reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 11, summer of year 6

Zora found a clockwork bird half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the shuttered paper mill to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora found a spool of wire half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a hand bell from the shuttered paper mill to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 12, spring of year 6

A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 13, winter of year 6

Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Zora was hired to carry a sextant from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. The weather turned. Zora moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels.

Entry 14, winter of year 6

Zora found a ledger half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora found a ledger half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 15, autumn of year 6

Zora found a signal flag half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Petra came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora was hired to carry a hand bell from Pinecrest High to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 16, autumn of year 6

Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Zora was hired to carry a sack of salt from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about the new curfew reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 17, summer of year 7

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 18, spring of year 7

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the ledger indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. Zora won 14 dollars on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 19, summer of year 7

Zora was hired to carry a spool of wire from the shuttered paper mill to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 39 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the new curfew reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 20, summer of year 7

At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 21, spring of year 7

Zora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora won 62 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 22, winter of year 7

The weather turned. Zora moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Zora moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about the missing shipment reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 23, summer of year 7

Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora won 38 dollars on a bet about the census and spent all of it on supper. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 24, autumn of year 7

Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora won 22 dollars on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on supper. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 25, summer of year 7

Zora was hired to carry a ledger from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 54 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora found a sextant half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 26, winter of year 7

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the comet reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Astrid came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 27, spring of year 7

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 51 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Zora found a iron kettle half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the census reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Cassius came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 28, winter of year 7

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the missing shipment reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 29, spring of year 7

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Wren came by asking about who really won the regatta. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora repaired the oilskin map at the community radio shack for Kenji, who paid in 53 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks.

Entry 30, spring of year 7

Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora was hired to carry a oilskin map from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 31, spring of year 7

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Zora moved the signal flag indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the missing shipment. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 32, winter of year 7

Zora repaired the hand bell at Route 12 gas station for Yevgenia, who paid in 31 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. Zora found a ledger half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 33, spring of year 8

Zora was hired to carry a copper pipe from the Falls Diner to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 46 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Zora found a iron kettle half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 34, summer of year 8

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora was hired to carry a brass lantern from the shuttered paper mill to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 35, summer of year 8

Zora won 58 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Hamish came by asking about the harvest count. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 36, summer of year 8

Zora was hired to carry a copper pipe from Pinecrest High to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 37, autumn of year 8

A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora repaired the signal flag at Route 12 gas station for Bram, who paid in 19 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 12 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short.

Entry 38, autumn of year 8

The weather turned. Zora moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 38 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 39, spring of year 8

The weather turned. Zora moved the signal flag indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. Rumours about the new curfew reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 40, winter of year 8

Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 59 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Quentin came by asking about the comet. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 73 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 66 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short.

Entry 41, autumn of year 8

Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora repaired the clockwork bird at Pinecrest High for Ulla, who paid in 12 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora found a ledger half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 42, summer of year 8

Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora found a spool of wire half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 43, autumn of year 8

At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 44, autumn of year 8

At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 86 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. Zora won 40 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 45, summer of year 8

The weather turned. Zora moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora won 78 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper. Zora repaired the clockwork bird at the Falls Diner for Astrid, who paid in 74 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors.

Entry 46, autumn of year 8

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 47, spring of year 8

Zora found a wax seal half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 26 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 48, winter of year 8

Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Zora found a grain scale half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 49, winter of year 9

At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real signal flag from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 21 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Zora found a copper pipe half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the missing shipment. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 50, spring of year 9

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora found a glass float half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora found a oilskin map half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 51, spring of year 9

A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora was hired to carry a grain scale from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora found a bolt of linen half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 52, autumn of year 9

Rumours about the quarantine reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora found a clockwork bird half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the census flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 53, summer of year 10

Orsolya came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora was hired to carry a grain scale from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora won 2 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. Zora found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 54, summer of year 10

Leocadia came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 6 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 55, summer of year 10

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Zora moved the clockwork bird indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 56, summer of year 10

Zora was hired to carry a grain scale from the shuttered paper mill to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 57, spring of year 11

A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Zora moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. The weather turned. Zora moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 47 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short.

Entry 58, autumn of year 11

Nikolai came by asking about the comet. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 12 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short.

Entry 59, winter of year 11

At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 88 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora was hired to carry a glass float from the shuttered paper mill to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 60, autumn of year 11

Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 61, winter of year 11

A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 62, spring of year 11

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora won 31 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper. Zora found a glass float half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 63, autumn of year 11

A dispute over the comet flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 23 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. Zora found a sack of salt half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora won 5 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. Sable came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 64, winter of year 11

Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 82 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Zora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Oduya came by asking about the new curfew. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 65, spring of year 11

A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora won 27 dollars on a bet about the census and spent all of it on supper. Zora found a sextant half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora repaired the copper pipe at the shuttered paper mill for Percival, who paid in 17 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 66, winter of year 11

At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 41 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Zora repaired the cracked compass at Pinecrest High for Osric, who paid in 6 dollars and a long story about the missing shipment.

Entry 67, winter of year 11

The weather turned. Zora moved the pair of spectacles indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. Zora was hired to carry a wax seal from Pinecrest High to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Zora moved the coil of rope indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet.

Entry 68, autumn of year 11

Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 16 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora repaired the sack of salt at the Falls Diner for Ravi, who paid in 43 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora was hired to carry a ledger from the Falls Diner to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 69, summer of year 12

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ravi came by asking about the missing shipment. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 70, autumn of year 12

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Zora moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 71, spring of year 12

Zora was hired to carry a hand bell from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the quarantine reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Brigid came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora won 83 dollars on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 72, winter of year 12

Zora was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Zora moved the wax seal indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net. Rumours about the comet reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. Zora was hired to carry a ledger from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 73, winter of year 13

Zora repaired the cracked compass at the shuttered paper mill for Zelda, who paid in 4 dollars and a long story about the census. Zora repaired the cracked compass at the shuttered paper mill for Mara, who paid in 24 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. The weather turned. Zora moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew. Zora won 78 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 74, summer of year 13

Brigid came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Pinecrest High to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora won 70 dollars on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 75, spring of year 13

Cassius came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Quillon came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 75 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.

Entry 76, winter of year 13

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 77, spring of year 14

Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora repaired the pair of spectacles at Pinecrest High for Orsolya, who paid in 75 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Zora repaired the glass float at Pinecrest High for Halcyon, who paid in 20 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora repaired the hand bell at Pinecrest High for Wilhelmina, who paid in 89 dollars and a long story about the comet.

Entry 78, autumn of year 14

Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 78 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 79, spring of year 14

Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 24 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Zora was hired to carry a wax seal from the shuttered paper mill to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the census. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 7 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short.

Entry 80, winter of year 14

Rumours about the harvest count reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 81, spring of year 14

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Yannick came by asking about the new curfew. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. The Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 82, spring of year 14

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora repaired the pair of spectacles at Pinecrest High for Seraphine, who paid in 67 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 59 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Valentin came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 83, autumn of year 14

Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 51 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Brigid came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 84, autumn of year 14

Cassius came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora was hired to carry a clockwork bird from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora found a sextant half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora won 28 dollars on a bet about the census and spent all of it on supper. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 85, summer of year 15

Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 19 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.

Entry 86, winter of year 15

Bram came by asking about the comet. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora was hired to carry a grain scale from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora was hired to carry a cracked compass from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 87, summer of year 15

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora repaired the spool of wire at the community radio shack for Dorothea, who paid in 75 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 88, spring of year 15

Zora repaired the sextant at the shuttered paper mill for Tomasz, who paid in 23 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the tax on doors reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 89, summer of year 16

At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the copper pipe indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. Zora was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the Falls Diner to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 90, spring of year 16

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Zora moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 91, winter of year 16

Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 31 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora was hired to carry a sack of salt from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 92, spring of year 16

Zora repaired the grain scale at Pinecrest High for Hollis, who paid in 80 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 47 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short.

Entry 93, autumn of year 17

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora found a cracked compass half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the quarantine reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 6 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 94, winter of year 17

Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora found a ledger half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Zora moved the copper pipe indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count.

Entry 95, winter of year 17

Zora won 12 dollars on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper. Zora found a copper pipe half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a grain scale from the shuttered paper mill to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 96, autumn of year 17

The weather turned. Zora moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 97, winter of year 17

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Zora moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. Rumours about the census reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 86 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 98, winter of year 17

Yusuf came by asking about the new curfew. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 61 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 60 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short.

Entry 99, summer of year 17

Zora found a spool of wire half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora found a tin whistle half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sunniva came by asking about the tariff on salt. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 100, spring of year 17

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Zora moved the pair of spectacles indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. Zora was hired to carry a spool of wire from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 101, winter of year 17

Zora was hired to carry a iron kettle from Route 12 gas station to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora repaired the bundle of letters at Route 12 gas station for Teodora, who paid in 71 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks.

Entry 102, spring of year 17

Zora repaired the bolt of linen at Route 12 gas station for Greta, who paid in 9 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Baptiste came by asking about the harvest count. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora won 69 dollars on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 103, spring of year 17

The weather turned. Zora moved the clockwork bird indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the comet reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora found a tin whistle half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 104, winter of year 17

Rumours about the census reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rurik came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 105, spring of year 18

Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Zora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 68 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 106, winter of year 18

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Zora repaired the iron kettle at the community radio shack for Lucienne, who paid in 82 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora found a bundle of letters half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 107, winter of year 18

A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 34 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 44 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 3 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short.

Entry 108, autumn of year 18

Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Noor came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 109, spring of year 18

Rowan came by asking about the harvest count. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora found a sack of salt half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 110, autumn of year 18

The weather turned. Zora moved the sextant indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt. Zora was hired to carry a iron kettle from the shuttered paper mill to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 111, winter of year 18

Zora won 2 dollars on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on supper. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Zora won 76 dollars on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 112, spring of year 18

Zora won 88 dollars on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the census. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Teodora came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 113, summer of year 18

Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 6 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. The weather turned. Zora moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. Zora won 41 dollars on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 114, spring of year 18

Zora won 60 dollars on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora won 56 dollars on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 115, autumn of year 18

Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 116, winter of year 18

Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. The weather turned. Zora moved the signal flag indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. Rumours about the comet reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora won 46 dollars on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on supper. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 117, winter of year 18

The weather turned. Zora moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 63 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short.

Entry 118, winter of year 18

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Zora moved the cracked compass indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 80 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 119, autumn of year 18

Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 120, autumn of year 18

Greta came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora repaired the hand bell at Pinecrest High for Zelda, who paid in 23 dollars and a long story about the comet. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 121, spring of year 19

Zora repaired the sack of salt at Pinecrest High for Wilhelmina, who paid in 14 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 122, winter of year 19

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Zora moved the signal flag indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census. Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 123, winter of year 19

Zora repaired the tin whistle at Route 12 gas station for Sixten, who paid in 73 dollars and a long story about the census. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Zora repaired the oilskin map at Route 12 gas station for Wendeline, who paid in 24 dollars and a long story about the missing shipment. Zora repaired the coil of rope at Route 12 gas station for Torvald, who paid in 36 dollars and a long story about the new curfew.

Entry 124, winter of year 19

Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 17 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Zora won 76 dollars on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 125, winter of year 19

Zora found a spool of wire half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Zora moved the grain scale indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 126, spring of year 19

Zora repaired the ledger at the shuttered paper mill for Freya, who paid in 31 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Zora moved the grain scale indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels.

Entry 127, summer of year 19

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Zora moved the ledger indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 128, winter of year 19

Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Zora moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. Rumours about the quarantine reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 129, autumn of year 19

Zora found a grain scale half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Fenwick came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 130, summer of year 19

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora repaired the cracked compass at the community radio shack for Yannick, who paid in 22 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 56 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 131, spring of year 19

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Zora was hired to carry a wax seal from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Katarina came by asking about the harvest count. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 132, autumn of year 19

Zora repaired the copper pipe at the shuttered paper mill for Elowen, who paid in 41 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Zora repaired the signal flag at the shuttered paper mill for Zubair, who paid in 81 dollars and a long story about the missing shipment. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 133, autumn of year 20

Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora won 78 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 134, summer of year 20

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 135, winter of year 20

The weather turned. Zora moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Valentin came by asking about the new curfew. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 77 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 136, winter of year 20

A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 43 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Zora was hired to carry a cracked compass from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora found a sextant half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 137, autumn of year 20

Greta came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 11 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. The weather turned. Zora moved the grain scale indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count.

Entry 138, winter of year 20

Zora was hired to carry a coil of rope from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 139, summer of year 20

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora repaired the sextant at the Falls Diner for Sunniva, who paid in 18 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Zora won 46 dollars on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 140, spring of year 20

Zora was hired to carry a glass float from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. The weather turned. Zora moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew.

Entry 141, spring of year 21

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora repaired the signal flag at Route 12 gas station for Zelda, who paid in 48 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. The weather turned. Zora moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about the tax on doors reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 142, summer of year 21

Zora found a oilskin map half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora found a hand bell half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora won 72 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper. The weather turned. Zora moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks.

Entry 143, winter of year 21

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the comet flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 144, autumn of year 21

Zora won 45 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper. Zora found a copper pipe half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 145, autumn of year 22

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 146, summer of year 22

Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zubair came by asking about the missing shipment. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 147, autumn of year 22

Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A dispute over the comet flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 148, spring of year 22

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora won 27 dollars on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on supper. Zora was hired to carry a spool of wire from Route 12 gas station to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 149, spring of year 22

Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 35 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. Viggo came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 150, winter of year 22

Bram came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. Zora won 62 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 151, autumn of year 22

Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 152, winter of year 22

Zora repaired the coil of rope at the shuttered paper mill for Isadora, who paid in 9 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 153, winter of year 22

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora found a sextant half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a spool of wire from the Falls Diner to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 154, spring of year 22

Zora found a spool of wire half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Zora moved the hand bell indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 29 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 155, summer of year 22

Zora was hired to carry a cracked compass from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Calloway came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 156, spring of year 22

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora was hired to carry a wax seal from Pinecrest High to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Zora won 52 dollars on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 157, spring of year 23

Zora was hired to carry a sextant from Pinecrest High to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Zora won 69 dollars on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on supper. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 158, winter of year 23

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Octavia came by asking about the old tunnels. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora was hired to carry a iron kettle from Route 12 gas station to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 159, autumn of year 23

Zora was hired to carry a coil of rope from Route 12 gas station to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 77 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 32 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 160, winter of year 23

Leocadia came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Zora moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 161, spring of year 24

Rumours about the new curfew reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora was hired to carry a brass lantern from the shuttered paper mill to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Valentin came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 162, winter of year 24

Zora won 27 dollars on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on supper. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Petra came by asking about the missing shipment. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Zora repaired the grain scale at the community radio shack for Noor, who paid in 32 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 163, summer of year 24

The weather turned. Zora moved the grain scale indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the missing shipment. Zora won 28 dollars on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper. The weather turned. Zora moved the tin whistle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt.

Entry 164, spring of year 24

Fitzgerald came by asking about the old tunnels. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the missing shipment. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 165, autumn of year 24

The weather turned. Zora moved the ledger indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 54 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 21 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Zora repaired the brass lantern at Route 12 gas station for Elowen, who paid in 87 dollars and a long story about the comet. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 166, autumn of year 24

The weather turned. Zora moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. Zora repaired the cracked compass at the shuttered paper mill for Gideon, who paid in 85 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Zora repaired the cracked compass at the shuttered paper mill for Oduya, who paid in 84 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. Zubair came by asking about the harvest count. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the census. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 167, winter of year 24

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Zora repaired the grain scale at Route 12 gas station for Sixten, who paid in 39 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors.

Entry 168, summer of year 24

Katarina came by asking about the comet. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 169, summer of year 25

Zora repaired the spool of wire at Route 12 gas station for Orsolya, who paid in 8 dollars and a long story about the harvest count. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 64 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short.

Entry 170, autumn of year 25

Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 171, autumn of year 25

Zora was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora repaired the pair of spectacles at the community radio shack for Kenji, who paid in 50 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 172, winter of year 25

Zora found a bundle of letters half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora found a cracked compass half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Lucienne came by asking about the old tunnels. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 173, autumn of year 26

Zora found a coil of rope half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 86 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the missing shipment. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 174, spring of year 26

Ingrid came by asking about who really won the regatta. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 175, winter of year 26

Rumours about the quarantine reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Quillon came by asking about the tariff on salt. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 176, summer of year 26

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora was hired to carry a ledger from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 177, winter of year 27

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora won 40 dollars on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 178, winter of year 27

Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Zora moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the sextant indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels.

Entry 179, autumn of year 27

Zora won 4 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 180, spring of year 27

Zora found a bolt of linen half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Zora repaired the bolt of linen at Route 12 gas station for Wendeline, who paid in 75 dollars and a long story about the harvest count. Rumours about the quarantine reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 181, spring of year 28

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora repaired the sextant at the Falls Diner for Olwen, who paid in 8 dollars and a long story about the new curfew. The weather turned. Zora moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta.

Entry 182, autumn of year 28

At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. Zora repaired the brass lantern at the Falls Diner for Phaedra, who paid in 62 dollars and a long story about the census. Zora won 49 dollars on a bet about the census and spent all of it on supper. Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora found a glass float half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 183, spring of year 28

Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora repaired the sextant at Route 12 gas station for Wilhelmina, who paid in 38 dollars and a long story about the old tunnels. Zora was hired to carry a clockwork bird from Route 12 gas station to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora repaired the sack of salt at Route 12 gas station for Nikolai, who paid in 83 dollars and a long story about the new curfew.

Entry 184, winter of year 28

Zora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nkechi came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 185, autumn of year 28

Zora repaired the wax seal at Pinecrest High for Teodora, who paid in 25 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Zora was hired to carry a oilskin map from Pinecrest High to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the comet reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 186, summer of year 28

Rumours about the tax on doors reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 43 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 76 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short.

Entry 187, summer of year 28

Zora won 34 dollars on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on supper. Umberto came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 11 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 188, summer of year 28

The weather turned. Zora moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 189, winter of year 28

Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora was hired to carry a sextant from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 87 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short.

Entry 190, autumn of year 28

A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 191, winter of year 28

Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 35 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 192, spring of year 28

Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora found a sextant half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora found a bolt of linen half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 193, autumn of year 29

Zora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 55 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. Corvina came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 194, autumn of year 29

Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 195, autumn of year 29

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora found a tin whistle half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora won 65 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper. Zora found a tin whistle half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the census reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 196, autumn of year 29

The weather turned. Zora moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora repaired the ledger at Route 12 gas station for Emeric, who paid in 55 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. The weather turned. Zora moved the wax seal indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt.

Entry 197, spring of year 29

Zora found a hand bell half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Brigid came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 198, summer of year 29

Phaedra came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora repaired the iron kettle at the Falls Diner for Ysolde, who paid in 88 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 199, summer of year 29

Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 46 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Zora repaired the coil of rope at Pinecrest High for Jorah, who paid in 2 dollars and a long story about the comet.

Entry 200, summer of year 29

Zora was hired to carry a sextant from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora found a wax seal half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Zora moved the hand bell indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta.

Entry 201, summer of year 29

Zora repaired the signal flag at the community radio shack for Hyacinth, who paid in 18 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Zora found a spool of wire half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the tax on doors reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the comet reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 202, autumn of year 29

Zora was hired to carry a sack of salt from Route 12 gas station to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora repaired the copper pipe at Route 12 gas station for Seraphine, who paid in 4 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 203, autumn of year 29

A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 22 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 11 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 204, autumn of year 29

A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sable came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 205, summer of year 29

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the census. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Zora was hired to carry a spool of wire from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Dorothea came by asking about the comet. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 206, spring of year 29

Rumours about the missing shipment reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 207, summer of year 29

Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 7 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Zora found a wax seal half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Amadou came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 208, autumn of year 29

Zora won 30 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 209, summer of year 29

Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 28 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Yannick came by asking about the old tunnels. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Zora moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 210, autumn of year 29

Zora repaired the bolt of linen at the shuttered paper mill for Corvina, who paid in 25 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Zora moved the cracked compass indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine. Zora found a bundle of letters half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 211, spring of year 29

Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a glass float from Pinecrest High to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Cassius came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 212, spring of year 29

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Marisol came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 213, autumn of year 30

Zora repaired the coil of rope at the shuttered paper mill for Juniper, who paid in 70 dollars and a long story about the harvest count. Zora repaired the wax seal at the shuttered paper mill for Greta, who paid in 38 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Zora found a cracked compass half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 214, winter of year 30

Rumours about the missing shipment reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora won 35 dollars on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 215, autumn of year 30

Benedikt came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the sextant indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count.

Entry 216, winter of year 30

Zora repaired the grain scale at Route 12 gas station for Fitzgerald, who paid in 81 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 55 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 217, summer of year 31

Freya came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Zora was hired to carry a brass lantern from Pinecrest High to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 65 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short.

Entry 218, summer of year 31

Zora repaired the wax seal at Pinecrest High for Delphine, who paid in 39 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Zora found a grain scale half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sable came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora was hired to carry a bundle of letters from Pinecrest High to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 219, summer of year 31

Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora repaired the spool of wire at Pinecrest High for Ingrid, who paid in 17 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Zora won 85 dollars on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 220, spring of year 31

At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the census. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 221, winter of year 31

Zora found a grain scale half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Zora moved the sextant indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the harvest count. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 222, spring of year 31

Rumours about the quarantine reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 223, spring of year 31

Zora won 72 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. Zora repaired the wax seal at the community radio shack for Dashiell, who paid in 8 dollars and a long story about the tariff on salt. Zora found a sextant half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the harvest count reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 224, spring of year 31

The weather turned. Zora moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora repaired the oilskin map at the community radio shack for Tiberius, who paid in 68 dollars and a long story about the comet. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 225, autumn of year 31

Rumours about the new curfew reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 226, summer of year 31

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Zora won 22 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper. Zora won 14 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper. The weather turned. Zora moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 78 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short.

Entry 227, winter of year 31

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora was hired to carry a iron kettle from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora repaired the pair of spectacles at Pinecrest High for Wendeline, who paid in 55 dollars and a long story about the census.

Entry 228, summer of year 31

Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 229, autumn of year 31

The weather turned. Zora moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora won 74 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 230, winter of year 31

The weather turned. Zora moved the coil of rope indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net. Zora was hired to carry a hand bell from Route 12 gas station to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the new curfew reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 231, autumn of year 31

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 61 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora won 67 dollars on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on supper. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 32 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short.

Entry 232, winter of year 31

Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora repaired the copper pipe at the Falls Diner for Imogen, who paid in 4 dollars and a long story about the census. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 233, spring of year 31

Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 59 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Liora came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 234, spring of year 31

At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Petra came by asking about the harvest count. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 235, summer of year 31

Rumours about the missing shipment reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 236, summer of year 31

Zora won 53 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. The weather turned. Zora moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora won 55 dollars on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 237, spring of year 31

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the census reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora found a oilskin map half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 238, autumn of year 31

Zora found a pair of spectacles half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora won 17 dollars on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 239, autumn of year 31

The weather turned. Zora moved the ledger indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 240, winter of year 31

The weather turned. Zora moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net. Zora won 7 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 241, autumn of year 31

Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the census. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora won 4 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. Calloway came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 242, autumn of year 31

Zora won 40 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. Pilar came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 243, spring of year 31

Rumours about the harvest count reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Zora moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora won 17 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 244, summer of year 31

Lucienne came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 245, autumn of year 32

Octavia came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Tomasz came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora repaired the coil of rope at the community radio shack for Jorah, who paid in 13 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora repaired the grain scale at the community radio shack for Qadira, who paid in 72 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 246, winter of year 32

The weather turned. Zora moved the wax seal indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. Zora won 86 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Zora moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. Zora found a iron kettle half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 247, summer of year 32

Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Zora repaired the bolt of linen at Pinecrest High for Liora, who paid in 40 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 248, summer of year 32

Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 78 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 249, winter of year 32

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Zora moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 250, summer of year 32

The weather turned. Zora moved the clockwork bird indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the missing shipment. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Emeric came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 251, spring of year 32

Dorothea came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Zora moved the grain scale indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks.

Entry 252, summer of year 32

At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 253, summer of year 33

At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Zora repaired the spool of wire at Pinecrest High for Brigid, who paid in 23 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Zora repaired the clockwork bird at Pinecrest High for Zora, who paid in 19 dollars and a long story about the new curfew.

Entry 254, spring of year 33

Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 69 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Zora won 66 dollars on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 255, winter of year 33

Rumours about the new curfew reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 256, spring of year 33

Rowan came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora won 51 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 257, spring of year 33

The weather turned. Zora moved the copper pipe indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the missing shipment. Winifred came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora repaired the bundle of letters at the community radio shack for Ursula, who paid in 86 dollars and a long story about the quarantine.

Entry 258, spring of year 33

Rumours about the missing shipment reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Leocadia came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora repaired the sack of salt at Pinecrest High for Yannick, who paid in 13 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Eamon came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 259, autumn of year 33

At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 68 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 82 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short.

Entry 260, summer of year 33

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 261, autumn of year 34

Zora was hired to carry a clockwork bird from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 262, winter of year 34

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 83 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Zora was hired to carry a coil of rope from the shuttered paper mill to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 263, winter of year 34

Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 67 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Astrid came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 264, autumn of year 34

Zora won 59 dollars on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 265, winter of year 34

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Liora came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 266, winter of year 34

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 267, summer of year 34

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora was hired to carry a signal flag from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora found a hand bell half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Zora moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors.

Entry 268, autumn of year 34

Zora won 60 dollars on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on supper. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora won 34 dollars on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 81 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short.

Entry 269, summer of year 35

At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 270, spring of year 35

A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora won 65 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Zora moved the signal flag indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 83 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short.

Entry 271, summer of year 35

Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 272, summer of year 35

Zora won 80 dollars on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora found a oilskin map half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 273, summer of year 36

Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Zora moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 12 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 274, autumn of year 36

At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Zora was hired to carry a spool of wire from Route 12 gas station to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 275, winter of year 36

Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. The weather turned. Zora moved the sextant indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. Zora repaired the hand bell at the Falls Diner for Xiomara, who paid in 15 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 276, winter of year 36

Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. The weather turned. Zora moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 277, spring of year 36

Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the census. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 278, winter of year 36

At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. Zora repaired the sextant at Route 12 gas station for Magnus, who paid in 76 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Emeric came by asking about the missing shipment. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 279, spring of year 36

Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Zora moved the cracked compass indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. Zora won 31 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. Zora was hired to carry a clockwork bird from Pinecrest High to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 280, summer of year 36

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 42 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 281, summer of year 37

Zora won 26 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Zora moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the comet. Zora was hired to carry a sextant from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 282, winter of year 37

Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 79 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 283, winter of year 37

Zora repaired the hand bell at the community radio shack for Nadira, who paid in 43 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Zora was hired to carry a grain scale from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 284, summer of year 37

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the sack of salt indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 285, summer of year 37

Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Zora won 13 dollars on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 286, autumn of year 37

Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 24 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Zora was hired to carry a hand bell from the shuttered paper mill to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora found a signal flag half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 287, summer of year 37

Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 288, winter of year 37

Zora won 28 dollars on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper. Astrid came by asking about the missing shipment. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Zora moved the copper pipe indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 289, autumn of year 37

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Tomasz came by asking about the harvest count. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 290, spring of year 37

Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora repaired the wax seal at Pinecrest High for Magnus, who paid in 3 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. The weather turned. Zora moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels.

Entry 291, winter of year 37

Rumours about the old tunnels reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora won 5 dollars on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on supper. Zora won 71 dollars on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 292, summer of year 37

Zora repaired the pair of spectacles at the Falls Diner for Kwame, who paid in 39 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Zora repaired the grain scale at the Falls Diner for Caspian, who paid in 55 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 293, spring of year 37

Zora found a tin whistle half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the shuttered paper mill to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 294, winter of year 37

Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 48 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 33 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. Zora repaired the bundle of letters at the shuttered paper mill for Thaddeus, who paid in 64 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 295, summer of year 37

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Imogen came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 296, autumn of year 37

Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 87 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora won 12 dollars on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on supper. Rumours about the tax on doors reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 297, spring of year 37

Lucienne came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 82 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 298, autumn of year 37

Zelda came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora won 44 dollars on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 299, autumn of year 37

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora won 86 dollars on a bet about the census and spent all of it on supper. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora found a iron kettle half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the comet reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 300, autumn of year 37

Zora found a tin whistle half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora won 66 dollars on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on supper. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 301, autumn of year 37

Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 59 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. The weather turned. Zora moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 302, winter of year 37

Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora won 67 dollars on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on supper. Greta came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the new curfew reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the shuttered paper mill. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 303, spring of year 37

At the shuttered paper mill, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 27 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Gustav came by asking about the new curfew. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 304, winter of year 37

Zora found a coil of rope half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora won 68 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 305, summer of year 37

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora won 4 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 306, winter of year 37

Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 64 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. Zora found a coil of rope half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 307, winter of year 37

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora was hired to carry a coil of rope from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Zora moved the bundle of letters indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. Zora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 308, summer of year 37

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 57 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 28 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 309, autumn of year 37

Zora found a clockwork bird half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 310, autumn of year 37

Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Anouk came by asking about the singing at the docks. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Zora moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine. Zora found a cracked compass half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 311, summer of year 37

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Rhoswen came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 312, winter of year 37

Zora repaired the sextant at the Falls Diner for Rosalind, who paid in 3 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora repaired the pair of spectacles at the Falls Diner for Olwen, who paid in 65 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. Zora was hired to carry a sextant from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 313, autumn of year 38

Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the census reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Zora moved the clockwork bird indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil. Zora won 57 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 314, winter of year 38

Zora was hired to carry a cracked compass from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about the comet reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 25 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short.

Entry 315, autumn of year 38

At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Zora was hired to carry a spool of wire from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 316, winter of year 38

The weather turned. Zora moved the clockwork bird indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 75 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 74 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. The weather turned. Zora moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 317, summer of year 38

Zelda came by asking about the census. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora found a iron kettle half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 318, summer of year 38

Zora repaired the bolt of linen at the community radio shack for Teodora, who paid in 80 dollars and a long story about the comet. Zora repaired the sextant at the community radio shack for Xanthe, who paid in 7 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Zora repaired the brass lantern at the community radio shack for Astrid, who paid in 71 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Zora won 75 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 319, winter of year 38

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 23 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 320, spring of year 38

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Zora moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 321, autumn of year 39

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Zora moved the cracked compass indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 322, winter of year 39

Zora won 27 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora found a coil of rope half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 66 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short.

Entry 323, summer of year 39

Zora was hired to carry a iron kettle from Pinecrest High to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the old tunnels reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 324, spring of year 39

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Zora moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well. At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Yevgenia came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 325, winter of year 39

Zora closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about the old tunnels reached Pinecrest High. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora was hired to carry a brass lantern from Pinecrest High to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 326, spring of year 39

Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 18 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Zora found a bolt of linen half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 327, winter of year 39

A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora found a sack of salt half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 328, spring of year 39

Zora repaired the oilskin map at the Falls Diner for Mara, who paid in 86 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. Zora won 55 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. The weather turned. Zora moved the spool of wire indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about who really won the regatta. Zora found a bolt of linen half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora found a sack of salt half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 329, spring of year 40

Zora repaired the ledger at Route 12 gas station for Gideon, who paid in 78 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. At Route 12 gas station, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Zora found a sextant half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 330, winter of year 40

Zora repaired the copper pipe at Route 12 gas station for Sunniva, who paid in 32 dollars and a long story about the tariff on salt. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 331, autumn of year 40

A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 68 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. Zora was hired to carry a coil of rope from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 332, spring of year 40

A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Zora spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 4 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short.

Entry 333, summer of year 40

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. Zora won 53 dollars on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper. Zora won 78 dollars on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 334, winter of year 40

Zora found a brass lantern half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Dashiell came by asking about the missing shipment. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Pinecrest High, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Rurik came by asking about the quarantine. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 335, spring of year 40

Zora was hired to carry a brass lantern from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 336, autumn of year 40

Zora was hired to carry a copper pipe from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 337, autumn of year 41

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora won 44 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Zora was hired to carry a spool of wire from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 338, summer of year 41

Mara came by asking about the tax on doors. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora found a sack of salt half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 339, spring of year 41

Cassius came by asking about the missing shipment. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Zora found a bundle of letters half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora was hired to carry a cracked compass from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Zora moved the iron kettle indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 340, autumn of year 41

Tiberius came by asking about the old tunnels. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora won 11 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper. The weather turned. Zora moved the bolt of linen indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 341, spring of year 42

Zora won 20 dollars on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 342, spring of year 42

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora was hired to carry a brass lantern from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 343, spring of year 42

The weather turned. Zora moved the copper pipe indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 37 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Kenji came by asking about the comet. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Zora found a hand bell half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 344, summer of year 42

Zora won 7 dollars on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on supper. Rumours about the tax on doors reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the quarantine reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 53 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 345, winter of year 42

A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Zora repaired the glass float at the community radio shack for Oduya, who paid in 80 dollars and a long story about the new curfew. Amadou came by asking about the comet. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 346, autumn of year 42

At the Falls Diner, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the comet flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the Falls Diner. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Zora for the password to the workshop. Zora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 347, winter of year 42

Zora closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Zora was hired to carry a brass lantern from Route 12 gas station to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rurik came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Zora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the harvest count reached Route 12 gas station. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 348, spring of year 42

The weather turned. Zora moved the pair of spectacles indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Zora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 349, summer of year 43

At the community radio shack, Zora taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Zora found a grain scale half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Zora moved the cracked compass indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 350, summer of year 43

Rumours about the quarantine reached the community radio shack. Zora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Zora and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Zora spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 30 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 351, spring of year 43

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Zora has a suspect and is probably right. Zora found a clockwork bird half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Zora spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 57 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.