

Nadira Corvane

Character Dossier

Proud of a craft nobody appreciates radio operator of the Drowned Library beneath Old Cassilon

Overview

Nadira Corvane is a radio operator living in the Drowned Library beneath Old Cassilon. Nadira is 74 years old, originally from Bittermoor, and is known around the Reading Well as proud of a craft nobody appreciates. In conversation Nadira speaks softly and expects people to lean in.

Background

Nadira arrived in the Drowned Library beneath Old Cassilon 13 years ago after leaving Bittermoor under circumstances Nadira describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Order of Wet Pages; the second was the one that stuck. Today Nadira works as a radio operator near the Stacks of Ash and is paid, when paid at all, in ink-weights.

Nadira learned the trade from Gideon Fairweather, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Nadira's life is with Astrid Nightingale, over a matter neither will explain. The person Nadira trusts most is Ingrid Kaldwin.

Current goal: to prove the old tunnels are real. Greatest fear: letting people down.

Personality and speech

Temperament: proud of a craft nobody appreciates.

Speech pattern: Nadira speaks softly and expects people to lean in.

Tells: when lying, Nadira mentions Grumble the cat for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

|                |                                          |
|----------------|------------------------------------------|
| Full name      | Nadira Corvane                           |
| Role           | radio operator                           |
| Home           | the Drowned Library beneath Old Cassilon |
| Hometown       | Bittermoor                               |
| Age            | 74                                       |
| Favourite dish | midnight oat and ale bread               |
| Pet            | Grumble, a cat                           |
| Lucky number   | 743                                      |

|                          |                    |
|--------------------------|--------------------|
| Workshop password | cedar-drift        |
| Mentor            | Gideon Fairweather |
| Rival             | Astrid Nightingale |
| Closest friend    | Ingrid Kaldwin     |

Secret

Nadira was the one who let the animals loose during the festival three years ago.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Nadira: I am the radio operator. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Nadira: Midnight oat and ale bread. Do not tell Astrid I said so.

Visitor: Is Grumble yours?

Nadira: Grumble belongs to nobody. Grumble tolerates me. Lucky number is 743, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, spring of year 7

A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Nadira and a neighbour outside the cataloguers' gallery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the cataloguers' gallery. Nadira pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Order of Wet Pages sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Nadira read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nadira won 5 ink-weights on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 2, spring of year 7

Nadira was hired to carry a iron kettle from the Stacks of Ash to the sluice gates without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Nadira moved the hand bell indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the old tunnels. The weather turned. Nadira moved the coil of rope indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about whether the bridge will hold. The weather turned. Nadira moved the hand bell indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the singing at the docks. Nadira found a hand bell half-buried near the Stacks of Ash and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 3, spring of year 7

the Order of Wet Pages sent a notice about the census. Nadira read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Nadira for the password to the workshop. Nadira laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nadira won 36 ink-weights on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on supper.