

Astrid Nightingale

Character Dossier

Proud of a craft nobody appreciates hydroponics technician of Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987

Overview

Astrid Nightingale is a hydroponics technician living in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987. Astrid is 68 years old, originally from Bittermoor, and is known around the Falls Diner as proud of a craft nobody appreciates. In conversation Astrid mutters prices and measurements while thinking.

Background

Astrid arrived in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987 9 years ago after leaving Bittermoor under circumstances Astrid describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Lumen Falls town council; the second was the one that stuck. Today Astrid works as a hydroponics technician near Route 12 gas station and is paid, when paid at all, in dollars.

Astrid learned the trade from Tallulah Hartwell, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Astrid's life is with Nikolai Fairweather, over a matter neither will explain. The person Astrid trusts most is Ulla Marchetti.

Current goal: to find out what happened to the missing caravan. Greatest fear: crowds that go quiet all at once.

Personality and speech

Temperament: proud of a craft nobody appreciates.

Speech pattern: Astrid mutters prices and measurements while thinking.

Tells: when lying, Astrid mentions Pip the mouse for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Astrid Nightingale
Role	hydroponics technician
Home	Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987
Hometown	Bittermoor
Age	68
Favourite dish	twice-cooked honey cakes
Pet	Pip, a mouse

Lucky number	330
Workshop password	heron-thistle
Mentor	Tallulah Hartwell
Rival	Nikolai Fairweather
Closest friend	Ulla Marchetti

Secret

Astrid has a sibling nobody in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987 knows about, living quietly in Bittermoor.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Astrid: I am the hydroponics technician. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Astrid: Twice-cooked honey cakes. Do not tell Nikolai I said so.

Visitor: Is Pip yours?

Astrid: Pip belongs to nobody. Pip tolerates me. Lucky number is 330, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, winter of year 5

Astrid spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 16 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. Astrid found a cracked compass half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the community radio shack. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Astrid was hired to carry a copper pipe from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 2, winter of year 5

Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. Astrid won 13 dollars on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Katarina came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached Route 12 gas station. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 3, summer of year 5

The weather turned. Astrid moved the oilskin map indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine. Astrid found a brass lantern half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 4, winter of year 5

At Pinecrest High, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Astrid spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 83 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Rumours about the new curfew reached Pinecrest High. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 5, winter of year 5

Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. Bram came by asking about who really won the regatta. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Astrid moved the wax seal indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors. A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 6, winter of year 5

The weather turned. Astrid moved the coil of rope indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census. Kestrel came by asking about the comet. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Oduya came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Astrid closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. At the Falls Diner, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 7, spring of year 5

Rumours about the new curfew reached Route 12 gas station. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Astrid spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 11 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the new curfew reached Route 12 gas station. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 8, summer of year 5

Astrid won 77 dollars on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on supper. At the shuttered paper mill, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Astrid moved the brass lantern indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tariff on salt.

Entry 9, spring of year 6

Astrid spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 61 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. Astrid won 2 dollars on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on supper. Astrid found a spool of wire half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 10, winter of year 6

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Astrid closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the Falls Diner, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 11, summer of year 6

Astrid was hired to carry a copper pipe from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Astrid found a glass float half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Astrid found a cracked compass half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the Falls Diner, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 12, summer of year 6

A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Astrid spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 24 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 13, winter of year 7

A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Astrid closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Rumours about the missing shipment reached Route 12 gas station. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Astrid moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the new curfew.

Entry 14, summer of year 7

Astrid was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nadira came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Astrid was hired to carry a sextant from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 15, summer of year 7

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Astrid closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 16, autumn of year 7

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Astrid found a ledger half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Astrid closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on.

Entry 17, autumn of year 7

A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Astrid was hired to carry a glass float from Route 12 gas station to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Astrid repaired the brass lantern at Route 12 gas station for Osric, who paid in 19 dollars and a long story about the tariff on salt. The weather turned. Astrid moved the clockwork bird indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the tax on doors.

Entry 18, summer of year 7

Astrid won 70 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. Astrid closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. The weather turned. Astrid moved the signal flag indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the census.

Entry 19, spring of year 7

Rumours about the census reached the shuttered paper mill. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Astrid was hired to carry a cracked compass from the shuttered paper mill to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the shuttered paper mill, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 20, autumn of year 7

A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Astrid won 6 dollars on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on supper. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Greta came by asking about who really won the regatta. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 21, autumn of year 7

Rumours about the comet reached Route 12 gas station. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Astrid found a oilskin map half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Astrid won 3 dollars on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 22, autumn of year 7

Astrid repaired the brass lantern at Route 12 gas station for Brigid, who paid in 85 dollars and a long story about the tariff on salt. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 23, spring of year 7

Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. Astrid was hired to carry a cracked compass from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Jasper came by asking about the missing shipment. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 24, spring of year 7

Astrid won 38 dollars on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on supper. Astrid spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 69 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 25, autumn of year 8

A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Astrid was hired to carry a spool of wire from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 26, summer of year 8

A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At Pinecrest High, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Astrid repaired the bundle of letters at Pinecrest High for Teodora, who paid in 48 dollars and a long story about the quarantine.

Entry 27, summer of year 8

The weather turned. Astrid moved the hand bell indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine. Astrid spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 75 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 28, autumn of year 8

Astrid was hired to carry a copper pipe from Route 12 gas station to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Route 12 gas station, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Astrid closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Astrid was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Route 12 gas station to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 29, winter of year 9

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Astrid closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Astrid and a neighbour outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right.

Entry 30, summer of year 9

Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the community radio shack. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Astrid found a sack of salt half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Astrid moved the ledger indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the quarantine.

Entry 31, autumn of year 9

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. Astrid repaired the pair of spectacles at Route 12 gas station for Bram, who paid in 54 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Astrid found a tin whistle half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 32, autumn of year 9

Katarina came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the community radio shack, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Astrid was hired to carry a glass float from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 33, winter of year 10

Astrid found a bundle of letters half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached Pinecrest High. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Astrid for the password to the workshop. Astrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At Pinecrest High, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 34, summer of year 10

Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the community radio shack. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Astrid repaired the coil of rope at the community radio shack for Orsolya, who paid in 83 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. Astrid repaired the tin whistle at the community radio shack for Corvina, who paid in 6 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. At the community radio shack, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Astrid moved the glass float indoors and wrote three lines to an old friend about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 35, autumn of year 10

An old teacher visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Astrid found a sextant half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Thaddeus came by asking about the old tunnels. Astrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Pinecrest High, Astrid taught a newcomer how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 36, winter of year 10

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Astrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Astrid was hired to carry a glass float from Route 12 gas station to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached Route 12 gas station. Astrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Astrid won 26 dollars on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on supper.

Entry 37, summer of year 11

Astrid won 74 dollars on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on supper. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Astrid has a suspect and is probably right. Astrid repaired the ledger at the shuttered paper mill for Petra, who paid in 58 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors.