

Ingrid Thornbury

Character Dossier

Stubborn, principled and tired stable hand of Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars

Overview

Ingrid Thornbury is a stable hand living in Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars. Ingrid is 49 years old, originally from Elmsworth, and is known around Dome C as stubborn, principled and tired. In conversation Ingrid hums a few notes between thoughts.

Background

Ingrid arrived in Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars 16 years ago after leaving Elmsworth under circumstances Ingrid describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Bellwether Cooperative; the second was the one that stuck. Today Ingrid works as a stable hand near the water reclaimer and is paid, when paid at all, in co-op shares.

Ingrid learned the trade from Bram Norwood, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Ingrid's life is with Ulla Vasquez-Moor, over a matter neither will explain. The person Ingrid trusts most is Wendeline Hartwell.

Current goal: to finish the great ledger of Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars.
Greatest fear: being forgotten.

Personality and speech

Temperament: stubborn, principled and tired.

Speech pattern: Ingrid hums a few notes between thoughts.

Tells: when lying, Ingrid mentions Thimble the pigeon for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Ingrid Thornbury
Role	stable hand
Home	Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars
Hometown	Elmsworth
Age	49
Favourite dish	twice-cooked sesame brittle
Pet	Thimble, a pigeon

Lucky number	841
Workshop password	orchid-heron
Mentor	Bram Norwood
Rival	Ulla Vasquez-Moor
Closest friend	Wendeline Hartwell

Secret

Ingrid was the one who let the animals loose during the festival three years ago.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Ingrid: I am the stable hand. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Ingrid: Twice-cooked sesame brittle. Do not tell Ulla I said so.

Visitor: Is Thimble yours?

Ingrid: Thimble belongs to nobody. Thimble tolerates me. Lucky number is 841, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, summer of year 40

Bram visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ingrid repaired the copper pipe at the water reclaimer for Marisol, who paid in 70 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right.

Entry 2, winter of year 40

Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the old tunnels. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right.

Entry 3, spring of year 40

A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Yannick came by asking about the tax on doors. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ingrid repaired the bundle of letters at the water reclaimer for Zeph, who paid in 62 co-op shares and a long story about the harvest count.

Entry 4, autumn of year 40

A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the new curfew. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the commons, Ingrid taught Wendeline how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right.

Entry 5, summer of year 40

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the quarantine. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ingrid closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Thimble followed at a distance. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right.

Entry 6, winter of year 40

Ingrid won 80 co-op shares from Ulla on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on twice-cooked sesame brittle. Ingrid won 8 co-op shares from Ulla on a bet about the census and spent all of it on twice-cooked sesame brittle. Ingrid closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Thimble followed at a distance. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the comet reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 7, summer of year 40

The weather turned. Ingrid moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Thimble, and wrote three lines to Bram about who really won the regatta. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Thimble, and wrote three lines to Bram about the tariff on salt. At Dome C, Ingrid taught Wendeline how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Fitzgerald came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 31 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short.

Entry 8, spring of year 40

At the commons, Ingrid taught Wendeline how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Ingrid was hired to carry a coil of rope from the commons to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the commons: 54 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right. Zubair came by asking about the missing shipment. Ingrid said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 9, spring of year 41

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Bram visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 10, winter of year 41

Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Thimble followed at a distance. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right. At Dome C, Ingrid taught Wendeline how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Thimble followed at a distance.

Entry 11, summer of year 41

A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Ingrid and Ulla outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ingrid was hired to carry a spool of wire from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Ingrid and Ulla outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 12, summer of year 41

Ingrid closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Thimble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Thimble, and wrote three lines to Bram about the quarantine. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught Wendeline how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Ingrid moved the spool of wire indoors, fed Thimble, and wrote three lines to Bram about the tax on doors. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 13, spring of year 42

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught Wendeline how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the water reclaimer. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ingrid won 2 co-op shares from Ulla on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on twice-cooked sesame brittle.

Entry 14, summer of year 42

A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Ingrid and Ulla outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid was hired to carry a ledger from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right.

Entry 15, autumn of year 42

Ingrid found a tin whistle half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Ingrid and Ulla outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 16, spring of year 42

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 42 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Ingrid closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Thimble followed at a distance. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ingrid and Ulla outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught Wendeline how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Bram visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 17, summer of year 43

A stranger asked Ingrid for the password to the workshop. Ingrid laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ingrid repaired the iron kettle at Dome C for Tallulah, who paid in 2 co-op shares and a long story about the harvest count. Ingrid won 47 co-op shares from Ulla on a bet about the census and spent all of it on twice-cooked sesame brittle. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right. Rumours about the harvest count reached Dome C. Ingrid pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 18, autumn of year 43

Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 18 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ingrid and Ulla outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the water reclaimer, Ingrid taught Wendeline how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. Ingrid spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 3 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short.

Entry 19, autumn of year 43

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Ingrid read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right. Ingrid was hired to carry a grain scale from the water reclaimer to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ingrid won 86 co-op shares from Ulla on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on twice-cooked sesame brittle. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Ingrid suspects Wendeline and is probably right.

Entry 20, spring of year 43

A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ingrid and Ulla outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Thimble followed at a distance. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Ingrid and Ulla outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ingrid was hired to carry a grain scale from the commons to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.