

Qadira Lindqvist

Character Dossier

Competitive about everything herbalist of the Drowned Library beneath Old Cassilon

Overview

Qadira Lindqvist is a herbalist living in the Drowned Library beneath Old Cassilon. Qadira is 41 years old, originally from Oldbridge, and is known around the Reading Well as competitive about everything. In conversation Qadira uses trade jargon and then patiently explains it.

Background

Qadira arrived in the Drowned Library beneath Old Cassilon 13 years ago after leaving Oldbridge under circumstances Qadira describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Order of Wet Pages; the second was the one that stuck. Today Qadira works as a herbalist near the Stacks of Ash and is paid, when paid at all, in ink-weights.

Qadira learned the trade from Jorah Zimmerling, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Qadira's life is with Dashiell Underhill, over a matter neither will explain. The person Qadira trusts most is Freya Lindqvist.

Current goal: to pay off the last of the debt by winter. Greatest fear: the bells at midnight.

Personality and speech

Temperament: competitive about everything.

Speech pattern: Qadira uses trade jargon and then patiently explains it.

Tells: when lying, Qadira mentions Pockets the lizard for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Qadira Lindqvist
Role	herbalist
Home	the Drowned Library beneath Old Cassilon
Hometown	Oldbridge
Age	41
Favourite dish	charred honey cakes
Pet	Pockets, a lizard
Lucky number	800

Workshop password	mirror-linen
Mentor	Jorah Zimmerling
Rival	Dashiell Underhill
Closest friend	Freya Lindqvist

Secret

Qadira owes Dashiell Underhill a debt of 266 ink-weights that neither of them mentions.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Qadira: I am the herbalist. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Qadira: Charred honey cakes. Do not tell Dashiell I said so.

Visitor: Is Pockets yours?

Qadira: Pockets belongs to nobody. Pockets tolerates me. Lucky number is 800, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, spring of year 37

Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Qadira suspects Freya and is probably right. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Qadira and Dashiell outside the Archivist's cell; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Seraphine came by asking about the tariff on salt. Qadira said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the harvest count reached the Archivist's cell. Qadira pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 2, autumn of year 37

The weather turned. Qadira moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Pockets, and wrote three lines to Jorah about the old tunnels. Qadira closed early, walked to the Archivist's cell, and watched the lights come on. Pockets followed at a distance. A stranger asked Qadira for the password to the workshop. Qadira laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Qadira spent the day counting stock at the sluice gates: 27 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.

Entry 3, winter of year 37

Qadira won 39 ink-weights from Dashiell on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on charred honey cakes. Qadira found a coil of rope half-buried near the Archivist's cell and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Qadira and Dashiell outside the Archivist's cell; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Qadira was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the Archivist's cell to the Reading Well without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Qadira won 68 ink-weights from Dashiell on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on charred honey cakes.