

Soren Ravensworth

Character Dossier

Proud of a craft nobody appreciates hydroponics technician of Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987

Overview

Soren Ravensworth is a hydroponics technician living in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987. Soren is 68 years old, originally from Bittermoor, and is known around the Falls Diner as proud of a craft nobody appreciates. In conversation Soren mutters prices and measurements while thinking.

Background

Soren arrived in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987 4 years ago after leaving Bittermoor under circumstances Soren describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Lumen Falls town council; the second was the one that stuck. Today Soren works as a hydroponics technician near Route 12 gas station and is paid, when paid at all, in dollars.

Soren learned the trade from Leocadia Duskmere, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Soren's life is with Fitzgerald Achterberg, over a matter neither will explain. The person Soren trusts most is Hyacinth Everhart.

Current goal: to find out what happened to the missing caravan. Greatest fear: crowds that go quiet all at once.

Personality and speech

Temperament: proud of a craft nobody appreciates.

Speech pattern: Soren mutters prices and measurements while thinking.

Tells: when lying, Soren mentions Admiral the goat for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Soren Ravensworth
Role	hydroponics technician
Home	Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987
Hometown	Bittermoor
Age	68
Favourite dish	midnight cold buckwheat noodles
Pet	Admiral, a goat

Lucky number	680
Workshop password	fable-wick
Mentor	Leocadia Duskmere
Rival	Fitzgerald Achterberg
Closest friend	Hyacinth Everhart

Secret

Soren has a sibling nobody in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987 knows about, living quietly in Bittermoor.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Soren: I am the hydroponics technician. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Soren: Midnight cold buckwheat noodles. Do not tell Fitzgerald I said so.

Visitor: Is Admiral yours?

Soren: Admiral belongs to nobody. Admiral tolerates me. Lucky number is 680, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, summer of year 12

Soren spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 69 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. At Pinecrest High, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 2, winter of year 12

Soren spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 64 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. Soren found a coil of rope half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Soren closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 3, winter of year 12

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren was hired to carry a coil of rope from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Soren moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the singing at the docks. Soren was hired to carry a tin whistle from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 4, summer of year 12

A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Soren spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 57 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Soren spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 28 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 5, autumn of year 12

Soren found a clockwork bird half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the Falls Diner. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the Falls Diner. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Soren found a brass lantern half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 6, autumn of year 12

Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Soren was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Anouk came by asking about the singing at the docks. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Soren moved the spool of wire indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the quarantine. Soren found a cracked compass half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 7, summer of year 12

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. Rhoswen came by asking about the quarantine. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 8, winter of year 12

Soren repaired the sextant at the Falls Diner for Rosalind, who paid in 3 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Soren repaired the pair of spectacles at the Falls Diner for Olwen, who paid in 65 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. Soren was hired to carry a sextant from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Soren closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance.

Entry 9, autumn of year 13

Soren closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the Falls Diner. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the census reached the Falls Diner. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Soren moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the price of lamp oil. Soren won 57 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles.

Entry 10, winter of year 13

Soren was hired to carry a cracked compass from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Rumours about the comet reached the Falls Diner. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 25 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short.

Entry 11, autumn of year 13

At Route 12 gas station, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Soren was hired to carry a spool of wire from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 12, winter of year 13

The weather turned. Soren moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the new curfew. Soren spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 75 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Soren spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 74 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. The weather turned. Soren moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the tax on doors. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right.

Entry 13, summer of year 13

Zelda came by asking about the census. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren found a iron kettle half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At Route 12 gas station, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 14, summer of year 13

Soren repaired the bolt of linen at the community radio shack for Teodora, who paid in 80 dollars and a long story about the comet. Soren repaired the sextant at the community radio shack for Xanthe, who paid in 7 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Soren repaired the brass lantern at the community radio shack for Astrid, who paid in 71 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Soren won 75 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles.

Entry 15, winter of year 13

Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Soren spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 23 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the Falls Diner. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 16, spring of year 13

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Soren moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about whether the bridge will hold. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 17, autumn of year 14

A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the community radio shack, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Soren moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 18, winter of year 14

Soren won 27 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren found a coil of rope half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Soren spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 66 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short.

Entry 19, summer of year 14

Soren was hired to carry a iron kettle from Pinecrest High to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Pinecrest High. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the old tunnels reached Pinecrest High. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Soren closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance.

Entry 20, spring of year 14

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the community radio shack. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Soren moved the spool of wire indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the rumour of a second well. At the community radio shack, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Yevgenia came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 21, winter of year 14

Soren closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. Rumours about the old tunnels reached Pinecrest High. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Soren was hired to carry a brass lantern from Pinecrest High to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Pinecrest High, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 22, spring of year 14

Soren spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 18 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. At Route 12 gas station, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. At Route 12 gas station, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Soren found a bolt of linen half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 23, winter of year 14

A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Soren found a sack of salt half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right.

Entry 24, spring of year 14

Soren repaired the oilskin map at the Falls Diner for Mara, who paid in 86 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. Soren won 55 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. The weather turned. Soren moved the spool of wire indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about who really won the regatta. Soren found a bolt of linen half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Soren found a sack of salt half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 25, spring of year 15

Soren repaired the ledger at Route 12 gas station for Gideon, who paid in 78 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. At Route 12 gas station, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Soren found a sextant half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right.

Entry 26, winter of year 15

Soren repaired the copper pipe at Route 12 gas station for Sunniva, who paid in 32 dollars and a long story about the tariff on salt. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Soren was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 27, autumn of year 15

A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Soren spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 68 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. Soren was hired to carry a coil of rope from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right.

Entry 28, spring of year 15

A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 4 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short.

Entry 29, summer of year 15

At the community radio shack, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. Soren won 53 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. Soren won 78 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles.

Entry 30, winter of year 15

Soren found a brass lantern half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Dashiell came by asking about the missing shipment. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Pinecrest High, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Rurik came by asking about the quarantine. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 31, spring of year 15

Soren was hired to carry a brass lantern from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the community radio shack. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 32, autumn of year 15

Soren was hired to carry a copper pipe from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 33, autumn of year 16

Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren won 44 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. Soren was hired to carry a spool of wire from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 34, summer of year 16

Mara came by asking about the tax on doors. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the Falls Diner, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren found a sack of salt half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 35, spring of year 16

Cassius came by asking about the missing shipment. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the Falls Diner, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Soren found a bundle of letters half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Soren was hired to carry a cracked compass from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Soren moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 36, autumn of year 16

Tiberius came by asking about the old tunnels. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead. Soren won 11 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. The weather turned. Soren moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 37, spring of year 17

Soren won 20 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Soren closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance.

Entry 38, spring of year 17

A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren was hired to carry a brass lantern from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 39, spring of year 17

The weather turned. Soren moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the new curfew. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Soren spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 37 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Kenji came by asking about the comet. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead. Soren found a hand bell half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 40, summer of year 17

Soren won 7 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. Rumours about the tax on doors reached the community radio shack. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the quarantine reached the community radio shack. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Soren spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 53 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 41, winter of year 17

A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Soren repaired the glass float at the community radio shack for Oduya, who paid in 80 dollars and a long story about the new curfew. Amadou came by asking about the comet. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 42, autumn of year 17

At the Falls Diner, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the comet flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the Falls Diner. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 43, winter of year 17

Soren closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Soren was hired to carry a brass lantern from Route 12 gas station to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rurik came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the harvest count reached Route 12 gas station. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 44, spring of year 17

The weather turned. Soren moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the tax on doors. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 45, summer of year 18

At the community radio shack, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Soren found a grain scale half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Soren moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 46, summer of year 18

Rumours about the quarantine reached the community radio shack. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 30 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 47, spring of year 18

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Soren found a clockwork bird half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Soren spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 57 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.

Entry 48, autumn of year 18

Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren repaired the ledger at Route 12 gas station for Juniper, who paid in 78 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. Benedikt came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 49, summer of year 19

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren found a cracked compass half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. Soren repaired the iron kettle at the shuttered paper mill for Octavia, who paid in 88 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta.

Entry 50, spring of year 19

Soren was hired to carry a grain scale from the shuttered paper mill to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the shuttered paper mill, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Ravi came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Soren said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 51, winter of year 19

Soren repaired the bolt of linen at the Falls Diner for Leocadia, who paid in 39 dollars and a long story about the missing shipment. Soren found a oilskin map half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Soren closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. Soren repaired the sextant at the Falls Diner for Rurik, who paid in 77 dollars and a long story about the new curfew.

Entry 52, winter of year 19

Soren won 71 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren found a signal flag half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 53, winter of year 19

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren found a iron kettle half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 54, summer of year 19

The weather turned. Soren moved the ledger indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the right way to mend a net. Soren won 37 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Soren spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 27 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short.

Entry 55, winter of year 19

At the Falls Diner, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. At the Falls Diner, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Soren closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Admiral followed at a distance. At the Falls Diner, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Soren repaired the wax seal at the Falls Diner for Vesna, who paid in 16 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks.

Entry 56, autumn of year 19

Soren was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Soren repaired the clockwork bird at Route 12 gas station for Thaddeus, who paid in 70 dollars and a long story about the tariff on salt. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 57, winter of year 20

Soren won 4 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. Soren spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 47 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. Rumours about the comet reached the community radio shack. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren was hired to carry a hand bell from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 58, winter of year 20

Soren was hired to carry a spool of wire from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Soren was hired to carry a glass float from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right.

Entry 59, spring of year 20

Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Soren found a coil of rope half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Soren was hired to carry a signal flag from the community radio shack to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 60, summer of year 20

A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Pinecrest High. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Soren repaired the glass float at Pinecrest High for Tallulah, who paid in 37 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 61, spring of year 20

Soren found a sextant half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the census flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Soren read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Soren spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 39 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 62, autumn of year 20

Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren won 73 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles. Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right.

Entry 63, spring of year 20

Soren found a oilskin map half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Soren found a sextant half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 64, winter of year 20

Soren spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 52 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Soren repaired the iron kettle at the shuttered paper mill for Leocadia, who paid in 16 dollars and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 65, winter of year 20

Soren repaired the cracked compass at the community radio shack for Sunniva, who paid in 27 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. At the community radio shack, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the community radio shack. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At the community radio shack, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 66, spring of year 20

Soren found a copper pipe half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Soren was hired to carry a clockwork bird from Route 12 gas station to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Soren won 9 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles.

Entry 67, summer of year 20

Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Soren found a hand bell half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Soren moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the old tunnels.

Entry 68, autumn of year 20

The weather turned. Soren moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Admiral, and wrote three lines to Leocadia about the quarantine. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Leocadia visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Soren spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 87 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 69, winter of year 21

Rumours about the missing shipment reached Route 12 gas station. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At Route 12 gas station, Soren taught Hyacinth how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Soren won 29 dollars from Fitzgerald on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on midnight cold buckwheat noodles.

Entry 70, summer of year 21

A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Soren and Fitzgerald outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Soren spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 80 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Soren was hired to carry a sextant from Pinecrest High to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 71, autumn of year 21

Rumours about the quarantine reached the shuttered paper mill. Soren pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Soren for the password to the workshop. Soren laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Soren suspects Hyacinth and is probably right. Soren found a ledger half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.