

Lysander Nightingale

Character Dossier

Cynical mentor who wants to be proven wrong clockmaker of the harbor town of Saltmarsh

Overview

Lysander Nightingale is a clockmaker living in the harbor town of Saltmarsh. Lysander is 29 years old, originally from Redgate, and is known around the Old Quay as cynical mentor who wants to be proven wrong. In conversation Lysander addresses everyone as 'friend' until they earn a name.

Background

Lysander arrived in the harbor town of Saltmarsh 29 years ago after leaving Redgate under circumstances Lysander describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Harbormasters' Guild; the second was the one that stuck. Today Lysander works as a clockmaker near Gull Street market and is paid, when paid at all, in silver marks.

Lysander learned the trade from Elowen Hartwell, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Lysander's life is with Yannick Fairweather, over a matter neither will explain. The person Lysander trusts most is Liora Grimsby.

Current goal: to teach one apprentice who actually listens. Greatest fear: being seen to cry.

Personality and speech

Temperament: cynical mentor who wants to be proven wrong.

Speech pattern: Lysander addresses everyone as 'friend' until they earn a name.

Tells: when lying, Lysander mentions Pebble the rabbit for no reason.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, winter of year 20

the Harbormasters' Guild sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Lysander read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Lysander repaired the grain scale at the Old Quay for Zora, who paid in 66 silver marks and a long story about the old tunnels. The weather turned. Lysander moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Pebble, and wrote three lines to Elowen about the tax on doors. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Lysander suspects Liora and is probably right.

Entry 2, winter of year 20

Lysander closed early, walked to the drydocks, and watched the lights come on. Pebble followed at a distance. Rumours about the comet reached the Old Quay. Lysander pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the Old Quay. Lysander pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lysander spent the day counting stock at the Old Quay: 64 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 3, summer of year 20

A stranger asked Lysander for the password to the workshop. Lysander laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Elowen visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned.
