

Nikolai Hartwell

Character Dossier

Gruff but generous bookbinder of Kepler Station, a mining outpost orbiting the gas giant Oryn

Overview

Nikolai Hartwell is a bookbinder living in Kepler Station, a mining outpost orbiting the gas giant Oryn. Nikolai is 38 years old, originally from Anselm, and is known around Ring Deck 4 as gruff but generous. In conversation Nikolai compliments people before disagreeing with them.

Background

Nikolai arrived in Kepler Station, a mining outpost orbiting the gas giant Oryn 27 years ago after leaving Anselm under circumstances Nikolai describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Oryn Extraction Consortium; the second was the one that stuck. Today Nikolai works as a bookbinder near the hydroponics bay and is paid, when paid at all, in station credits.

Nikolai learned the trade from Greta Corvane, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Nikolai's life is with Amadou Lindqvist, over a matter neither will explain. The person Nikolai trusts most is Zeph Corvane.

Current goal: to map every path through Ring Deck 4. Greatest fear: the bells at midnight.

Personality and speech

Temperament: gruff but generous.

Speech pattern: Nikolai compliments people before disagreeing with them.

Tells: when lying, Nikolai mentions Barnaby the tortoise for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Nikolai Hartwell
Role	bookbinder
Home	Kepler Station, a mining outpost orbiting the gas giant Oryn
Hometown	Anselm
Age	38
Favourite dish	twice-cooked roast root vegetables
Pet	Barnaby, a tortoise
Lucky number	360

Workshop password	heron-velvet
Mentor	Greta Corvane
Rival	Amadou Lindqvist
Closest friend	Zeph Corvane

Secret

Nikolai has never told Greta Corvane that the famous 'accident' was deliberate.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Nikolai: I am the bookbinder. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Nikolai: Twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Do not tell Amadou I said so.

Visitor: Is Barnaby yours?

Nikolai: Barnaby belongs to nobody. Barnaby tolerates me. Lucky number is 360, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, spring of year 4

At the hydroponics bay, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. Xavier came by asking about the census. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai found a tin whistle half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 2, summer of year 4

Nikolai found a coil of rope half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the comet reached the hydroponics bay. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai repaired the hand bell at the hydroponics bay for Rhoswen, who paid in 44 station credits and a long story about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 3, winter of year 4

Nikolai was hired to carry a cracked compass from the observation lounge to the ore refinery without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the observation lounge, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the observation lounge: 66 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short.

Entry 4, spring of year 4

Nikolai repaired the bundle of letters at Dockmaster's Row for Kestrel, who paid in 21 station credits and a long story about the quarantine. Nikolai found a hand bell half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Hyacinth came by asking about the old tunnels. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai closed early, walked to the hydroponics bay, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance.

Entry 5, summer of year 5

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Nikolai repaired the brass lantern at Dockmaster's Row for Xanthe, who paid in 78 station credits and a long story about the census. Mara came by asking about the census. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached Dockmaster's Row. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 6, winter of year 5

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the observation lounge. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai found a sack of salt half-buried near the observation lounge and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 7, summer of year 5

Nikolai won 85 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai found a copper pipe half-buried near the ore refinery and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai won 3 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 8, summer of year 5

Octavia came by asking about the singing at the docks. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Tiberius came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the census. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 9, summer of year 5

Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai was hired to carry a glass float from Ring Deck 4 to the ore refinery without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai repaired the pair of spectacles at Ring Deck 4 for Ursula, who paid in 69 station credits and a long story about the harvest count. Nikolai won 76 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 10, autumn of year 5

A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai closed early, walked to Dockmaster's Row, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the hand bell indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the harvest count. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the observation lounge; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai was hired to carry a iron kettle from the observation lounge to Dockmaster's Row without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 11, winter of year 5

At Ring Deck 4, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Nikolai was hired to carry a clockwork bird from Ring Deck 4 to the hydroponics bay without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the comet reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Ring Deck 4; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 12, winter of year 5

A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the observation lounge; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the old tunnels. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the old tunnels. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 13, winter of year 5

At Ring Deck 4, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the quarantine. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Yusuf came by asking about the quarantine. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Ring Deck 4, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 14, autumn of year 5

Nikolai won 81 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Rumours about the census reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the new curfew reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 15, autumn of year 5

Nikolai was hired to carry a ledger from the observation lounge to the ore refinery without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the comet. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the observation lounge, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the tariff on salt.

Entry 16, autumn of year 5

At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Nikolai found a spool of wire half-buried near the ore refinery and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 17, summer of year 5

The weather turned. Nikolai moved the ledger indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about who really won the regatta. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Dockmaster's Row: 65 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Dockmaster's Row: 69 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. Nikolai repaired the tin whistle at Dockmaster's Row for Calloway, who paid in 35 station credits and a long story about the tax on doors. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 18, autumn of year 5

Dashiell came by asking about the new curfew. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai repaired the sack of salt at Dockmaster's Row for Zora, who paid in 52 station credits and a long story about the rumour of a second well. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 19, summer of year 5

Quillon came by asking about the comet. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 35 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai won 38 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 20, winter of year 5

Nikolai won 72 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai found a iron kettle half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai repaired the bundle of letters at the hydroponics bay for Osric, who paid in 68 station credits and a long story about the tax on doors. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the harvest count. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 21, spring of year 5

Nikolai found a cracked compass half-buried near Ring Deck 4 and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai was hired to carry a bolt of linen from Ring Deck 4 to the observation lounge without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nikolai found a cracked compass half-buried near Ring Deck 4 and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai won 85 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 22, spring of year 5

The weather turned. Nikolai moved the spool of wire indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the missing shipment. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 23, spring of year 5

the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai closed early, walked to Dockmaster's Row, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 24, spring of year 5

Nikolai won 10 station credits from Amadou on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. At Ring Deck 4, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 25, winter of year 6

The weather turned. Nikolai moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the missing shipment. Nikolai repaired the clockwork bird at the ore refinery for Nikolai, who paid in 66 station credits and a long story about who really won the regatta. Nikolai repaired the glass float at the ore refinery for Xiomara, who paid in 68 station credits and a long story about the harvest count.

Entry 26, spring of year 6

Octavia came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Tiberius came by asking about who really won the regatta. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Marisol came by asking about the new curfew. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 27, summer of year 6

Nikolai found a tin whistle half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai was hired to carry a tin whistle from Dockmaster's Row to the ore refinery without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 28, summer of year 6

Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai won 31 station credits from Amadou on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 57 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 29, winter of year 7

Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 30, spring of year 7

Nikolai won 26 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. A dispute over the census flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the hydroponics bay. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 31, spring of year 7

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the harvest count reached the hydroponics bay. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 32, winter of year 7

Nikolai won 20 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Dockmaster's Row: 52 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short.

Entry 33, autumn of year 7

Nikolai repaired the pair of spectacles at Dockmaster's Row for Xavier, who paid in 17 station credits and a long story about the quarantine. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the comet. Nikolai was hired to carry a oilskin map from Dockmaster's Row to the ore refinery without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the quarantine. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 34, summer of year 7

Nikolai closed early, walked to Dockmaster's Row, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 53 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 82 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 35, winter of year 7

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Ring Deck 4: 42 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short.

Entry 36, autumn of year 7

Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Dockmaster's Row: 15 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Nikolai repaired the cracked compass at Dockmaster's Row for Qadira, who paid in 13 station credits and a long story about the comet. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the glass float indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the new curfew. Nikolai closed early, walked to the observation lounge, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance.

Entry 37, spring of year 8

A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the hydroponics bay, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the missing shipment. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 38, spring of year 8

Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai closed early, walked to the observation lounge, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At Dockmaster's Row, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 39, winter of year 8

Nikolai won 49 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the comet flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Fenwick came by asking about the tax on doors. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Quentin came by asking about the new curfew. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 40, autumn of year 8

A dispute over the census flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the observation lounge; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai was hired to carry a sack of salt from the observation lounge to Dockmaster's Row without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the observation lounge; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 41, winter of year 8

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 42, spring of year 8

Nikolai closed early, walked to the hydroponics bay, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai repaired the glass float at Ring Deck 4 for Juniper, who paid in 86 station credits and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 43, spring of year 8

Nikolai won 51 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the observation lounge: 70 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Nikolai found a cracked compass half-buried near the observation lounge and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the observation lounge; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 44, spring of year 8

Nikolai was hired to carry a tin whistle from the observation lounge to Dockmaster's Row without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 45, winter of year 8

Zubair came by asking about the new curfew. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai found a coil of rope half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 46, winter of year 8

Nikolai repaired the copper pipe at the hydroponics bay for Lucienne, who paid in 30 station credits and a long story about the singing at the docks. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. A dispute over the comet flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the hydroponics bay: 87 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Nikolai won 18 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 47, summer of year 8

A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the hydroponics bay, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the harvest count. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 48, winter of year 8

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ulla came by asking about the comet. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai was hired to carry a iron kettle from Dockmaster's Row to the observation lounge without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 49, autumn of year 9

Nikolai was hired to carry a hand bell from Dockmaster's Row to the hydroponics bay without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Dockmaster's Row, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Dockmaster's Row: 90 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Nikolai won 25 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the grain scale indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about who really won the regatta.

Entry 50, summer of year 9

Nikolai found a cracked compass half-buried near the observation lounge and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai closed early, walked to the hydroponics bay, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Rumours about the harvest count reached the observation lounge. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai repaired the clockwork bird at the observation lounge for Lucienne, who paid in 24 station credits and a long story about the missing shipment.

Entry 51, autumn of year 9

Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai found a spool of wire half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the hydroponics bay: 34 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 52, autumn of year 9

A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai won 64 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 53, autumn of year 9

Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai found a wax seal half-buried near Ring Deck 4 and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai won 50 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 54, spring of year 9

Nikolai was hired to carry a brass lantern from the hydroponics bay to the observation lounge without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the quarantine reached the hydroponics bay. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai won 11 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai won 39 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the missing shipment. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 55, autumn of year 9

the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the census. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the price of lamp oil. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 56, spring of year 9

The weather turned. Nikolai moved the glass float indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the tax on doors. At the observation lounge, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai found a signal flag half-buried near the observation lounge and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the observation lounge; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 57, autumn of year 10

the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai won 35 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 58, summer of year 10

A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai repaired the bundle of letters at Ring Deck 4 for Rhoswen, who paid in 59 station credits and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 59, autumn of year 10

Nikolai won 49 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the census and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Wilhelmina came by asking about the singing at the docks. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Nikolai was hired to carry a copper pipe from Ring Deck 4 to the hydroponics bay without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nikolai repaired the glass float at Ring Deck 4 for Calloway, who paid in 79 station credits and a long story about the old tunnels.

Entry 60, spring of year 10

Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Ring Deck 4: 63 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Nikolai repaired the grain scale at Ring Deck 4 for Dorothea, who paid in 43 station credits and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Rumours about the new curfew reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 61, winter of year 10

Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 6 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula came by asking about who really won the regatta. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai won 30 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the census and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 62, spring of year 10

Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 35 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Rumours about the new curfew reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the old tunnels. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai won 51 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 63, spring of year 10

At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 75 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Hamish came by asking about the new curfew. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 64, spring of year 10

Emeric came by asking about the quarantine. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai was hired to carry a cracked compass from Ring Deck 4 to the ore refinery without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Ring Deck 4, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Nikolai was hired to carry a copper pipe from Ring Deck 4 to the ore refinery without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 65, winter of year 10

Nikolai was hired to carry a copper pipe from Dockmaster's Row to the observation lounge without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nikolai was hired to carry a bundle of letters from Dockmaster's Row to the observation lounge without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nikolai was hired to carry a grain scale from Dockmaster's Row to the observation lounge without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 66, summer of year 10

Nikolai won 67 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the hydroponics bay: 55 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Quillon came by asking about the missing shipment. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai closed early, walked to the ore refinery, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai won 4 station credits from Amadou on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 67, summer of year 10

Nikolai was hired to carry a ledger from the ore refinery to Dockmaster's Row without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the ledger indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the tariff on salt. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the harvest count. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 68, spring of year 10

Nikolai closed early, walked to the hydroponics bay, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai won 21 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the signal flag indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 69, autumn of year 11

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the right way to mend a net. Rumours about the old tunnels reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 70, spring of year 11

A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 71, autumn of year 11

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the new curfew reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the singing at the docks.

Entry 72, summer of year 11

A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the observation lounge; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai won 41 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance.

Entry 73, autumn of year 11

Nikolai won 3 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. A dispute over the comet flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai won 66 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 74, winter of year 11

Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai found a grain scale half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Petra came by asking about the quarantine. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 75, spring of year 11

At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. Hyacinth came by asking about the tax on doors. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 76, winter of year 11

Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Dockmaster's Row. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai closed early, walked to the hydroponics bay, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai was hired to carry a copper pipe from Dockmaster's Row to the hydroponics bay without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nikolai repaired the ledger at Dockmaster's Row for Bram, who paid in 33 station credits and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. At Dockmaster's Row, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 77, autumn of year 12

The weather turned. Nikolai moved the grain scale indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the comet. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the hydroponics bay. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 78, autumn of year 12

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Nikolai was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Ring Deck 4 to the hydroponics bay without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nikolai found a sextant half-buried near Ring Deck 4 and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 79, spring of year 12

Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai found a brass lantern half-buried near the ore refinery and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 79 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Rumours about the new curfew reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai was hired to carry a signal flag from the ore refinery to Dockmaster's Row without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 80, spring of year 12

the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the ledger indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the price of lamp oil. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 81, autumn of year 12

At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Hyacinth came by asking about the new curfew. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai repaired the sack of salt at the ore refinery for Marisol, who paid in 52 station credits and a long story about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 82, spring of year 12

At the hydroponics bay, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 83, summer of year 12

Nikolai repaired the spool of wire at the ore refinery for Percival, who paid in 45 station credits and a long story about the harvest count. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the tariff on salt. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the missing shipment. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai repaired the iron kettle at the ore refinery for Nikolai, who paid in 80 station credits and a long story about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 84, autumn of year 12

A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Greta came by asking about the old tunnels. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the observation lounge to Ring Deck 4 without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the observation lounge, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 85, autumn of year 12

Ignatius came by asking about the tariff on salt. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 86, summer of year 12

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the census flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai was hired to carry a hand bell from the ore refinery to Ring Deck 4 without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 87, summer of year 12

A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Nikolai found a glass float half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 88, spring of year 12

the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the missing shipment. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai repaired the clockwork bird at Ring Deck 4 for Ingrid, who paid in 72 station credits and a long story about who really won the regatta. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the tax on doors. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 89, summer of year 12

The weather turned. Nikolai moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the comet. Nkechi came by asking about the old tunnels. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai repaired the wax seal at Dockmaster's Row for Osric, who paid in 49 station credits and a long story about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 90, summer of year 12

Nikolai found a sack of salt half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the comet flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At Dockmaster's Row, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. At Dockmaster's Row, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 91, autumn of year 12

At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the singing at the docks. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the sextant indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about whether the bridge will hold. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 92, autumn of year 12

Mara came by asking about the quarantine. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai won 28 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 93, winter of year 13

Rumours about the census reached Dockmaster's Row. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai repaired the tin whistle at Dockmaster's Row for Halcyon, who paid in 11 station credits and a long story about who really won the regatta. Nikolai closed early, walked to the ore refinery, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai closed early, walked to the ore refinery, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance.

Entry 94, autumn of year 13

A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai repaired the hand bell at the ore refinery for Rosalind, who paid in 68 station credits and a long story about the harvest count. At the ore refinery, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Nikolai repaired the tin whistle at the ore refinery for Astrid, who paid in 39 station credits and a long story about the rumour of a second well. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 95, autumn of year 13

Nikolai closed early, walked to the hydroponics bay, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai found a brass lantern half-buried near the ore refinery and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rowan came by asking about the new curfew. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 96, summer of year 13

The weather turned. Nikolai moved the hand bell indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the price of lamp oil. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai found a cracked compass half-buried near the ore refinery and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 97, spring of year 14

Zora came by asking about the missing shipment. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai was hired to carry a spool of wire from the ore refinery to Ring Deck 4 without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 98, autumn of year 14

Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the signal flag indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the price of lamp oil. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance.

Entry 99, autumn of year 14

A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. At the hydroponics bay, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 100, autumn of year 14

Isadora came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai won 3 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 101, autumn of year 14

Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Nikolai closed early, walked to Ring Deck 4, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Dockmaster's Row. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 102, winter of year 14

Nikolai found a wax seal half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the new curfew. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai was hired to carry a hand bell from Dockmaster's Row to the ore refinery without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 103, autumn of year 14

A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai repaired the pair of spectacles at the ore refinery for Seraphine, who paid in 56 station credits and a long story about the census. Nikolai won 41 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 104, spring of year 14

A dispute over the comet flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the comet reached Dockmaster's Row. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 105, autumn of year 14

A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the comet flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 106, spring of year 14

A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the hydroponics bay; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Emeric came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the hydroponics bay. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the hydroponics bay. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 107, autumn of year 14

Rumours about the comet reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Halcyon came by asking about the singing at the docks. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai was hired to carry a coil of rope from Ring Deck 4 to Dockmaster's Row without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the harvest count reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 108, autumn of year 14

Nikolai was hired to carry a ledger from Dockmaster's Row to the observation lounge without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai found a coil of rope half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 109, summer of year 15

the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the singing at the docks. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai won 23 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 110, spring of year 15

Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Zubair came by asking about the singing at the docks. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the new curfew. Nkechi came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the wax seal indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 111, spring of year 15

The weather turned. Nikolai moved the grain scale indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the census. Nikolai repaired the glass float at Ring Deck 4 for Quillon, who paid in 35 station credits and a long story about the missing shipment. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 112, summer of year 15

Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 63 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Wilhelmina came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Rumours about the comet reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 113, spring of year 16

Rumours about the harvest count reached Dockmaster's Row. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached Dockmaster's Row. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 114, summer of year 16

Nikolai repaired the brass lantern at the hydroponics bay for Mara, who paid in 23 station credits and a long story about the quarantine. Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 115, autumn of year 16

Nikolai won 30 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the hydroponics bay: 80 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Nikolai found a signal flag half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai found a hand bell half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 116, autumn of year 16

At the observation lounge, Nikolai taught Zeph how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the observation lounge: 30 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 117, autumn of year 17

Nikolai repaired the copper pipe at the observation lounge for Hollis, who paid in 81 station credits and a long story about who really won the regatta. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the new curfew. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the census. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai repaired the bolt of linen at the observation lounge for Yusuf, who paid in 6 station credits and a long story about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 118, autumn of year 17

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai found a brass lantern half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Dockmaster's Row: 78 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short.

Entry 119, summer of year 17

Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the observation lounge: 36 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai found a oilskin map half-buried near the observation lounge and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ravi came by asking about the comet. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right.

Entry 120, spring of year 17

A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Ring Deck 4; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai was hired to carry a sextant from Ring Deck 4 to the hydroponics bay without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at Ring Deck 4: 32 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 121, winter of year 18

Nikolai was hired to carry a coil of rope from the ore refinery to Ring Deck 4 without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside the ore refinery; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai won 51 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables.

Entry 122, summer of year 18

Nikolai won 45 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the tax on doors. Nikolai won 81 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai won 35 station credits from Amadou on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on twice-cooked roast root vegetables. Nikolai closed early, walked to the ore refinery, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance.

Entry 123, summer of year 18

the Oryn Extraction Consortium sent a notice about the old tunnels. Nikolai read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai found a cracked compass half-buried near the ore refinery and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai found a clockwork bird half-buried near the ore refinery and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the signal flag indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about the old tunnels.

Entry 124, autumn of year 18

Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached Dockmaster's Row. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai found a iron kettle half-buried near Dockmaster's Row and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the census flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 125, spring of year 19

Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the observation lounge: 61 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Nikolai repaired the hand bell at the observation lounge for Nikolai, who paid in 73 station credits and a long story about the harvest count. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the observation lounge: 2 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short.

Entry 126, autumn of year 19

Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Nikolai suspects Zeph and is probably right. Nikolai repaired the bolt of linen at the hydroponics bay for Cassius, who paid in 55 station credits and a long story about the census. Nikolai found a tin whistle half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai found a glass float half-buried near the hydroponics bay and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 127, spring of year 19

Rumours about the tax on doors reached the ore refinery. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nikolai spent the day counting stock at the ore refinery: 46 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Nikolai found a tin whistle half-buried near the ore refinery and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Nikolai for the password to the workshop. Nikolai laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Leocadia came by asking about the tariff on salt. Nikolai said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 128, spring of year 19

Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Nikolai was hired to carry a tin whistle from Ring Deck 4 to the hydroponics bay without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nikolai repaired the hand bell at Ring Deck 4 for Nkechi, who paid in 36 station credits and a long story about the price of lamp oil. The weather turned. Nikolai moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Barnaby, and wrote three lines to Greta about who really won the regatta. Nikolai repaired the bundle of letters at Ring Deck 4 for Sable, who paid in 59 station credits and a long story about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 129, autumn of year 20

Nikolai closed early, walked to the hydroponics bay, and watched the lights come on. Barnaby followed at a distance. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Nikolai and Amadou outside Dockmaster's Row; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai was hired to carry a tin whistle from Dockmaster's Row to the hydroponics bay without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 130, winter of year 20

Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Greta visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the comet reached Ring Deck 4. Nikolai pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.