

Sixten Dunmore

Character Dossier

Meticulous and easily flustered exorcist of Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars

Overview

Sixten Dunmore is a exorcist living in Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars. Sixten is 62 years old, originally from Caldera Row, and is known around Dome C as meticulous and easily flustered. In conversation Sixten ends sentences with 'you understand?'.

Background

Sixten arrived in Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars 11 years ago after leaving Caldera Row under circumstances Sixten describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Bellwether Cooperative; the second was the one that stuck. Today Sixten works as a exorcist near the water reclaimer and is paid, when paid at all, in co-op shares.

Sixten learned the trade from Lysander Nightingale, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Sixten's life is with Freya Lindqvist, over a matter neither will explain. The person Sixten trusts most is Sable Marchetti.

Current goal: to be forgotten by the people who remember the fire. Greatest fear: crowds that go quiet all at once.

Personality and speech

Temperament: meticulous and easily flustered.

Speech pattern: Sixten ends sentences with 'you understand?'.

Tells: when lying, Sixten mentions Bramble the hawk for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Sixten Dunmore
Role	exorcist
Home	Bellwether Farms, an agricultural cooperative on Mars
Hometown	Caldera Row
Age	62
Favourite dish	grandmother's pickled plums
Pet	Bramble, a hawk

Lucky number	676
Workshop password	harbor-kelp
Mentor	Lysander Nightingale
Rival	Freya Lindqvist
Closest friend	Sable Marchetti

Secret

Sixten secretly funds an orphanage in Caldera Row and would be mortified if anyone found out.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Sixten: I am the exorcist. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Sixten: Grandmother's pickled plums. Do not tell Freya I said so.

Visitor: Is Bramble yours?

Sixten: Bramble belongs to nobody. Bramble tolerates me. Lucky number is 676, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, summer of year 24

Sixten was hired to carry a sextant from the commons to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten was hired to carry a brass lantern from the commons to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 2, winter of year 24

Sixten found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 3, autumn of year 24

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten found a cracked compass half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 4, summer of year 24

At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 71 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 5, spring of year 25

Sixten repaired the copper pipe at the rover garage for Valentin, who paid in 18 co-op shares and a long story about the old tunnels. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten won 72 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 6, winter of year 25

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten won 73 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 7, autumn of year 25

Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 8, spring of year 25

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten was hired to carry a cracked compass from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 9, autumn of year 25

Sixten found a cracked compass half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 10, autumn of year 25

At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 11, winter of year 25

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Thaddeus came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten found a wax seal half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten repaired the bundle of letters at the water reclaimer for Winifred, who paid in 74 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta.

Entry 12, summer of year 25

Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 13, winter of year 25

At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Yevgenia came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 14, autumn of year 25

Sixten found a wax seal half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 15, spring of year 25

Sixten won 90 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 16, spring of year 25

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten was hired to carry a brass lantern from the seed vault to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten repaired the spool of wire at the seed vault for Nkechi, who paid in 41 co-op shares and a long story about the comet.

Entry 17, winter of year 25

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 37 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Sixten found a glass float half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten won 87 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the census and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 18, autumn of year 25

Sixten was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the rover garage to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 19, autumn of year 25

Nikolai came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten was hired to carry a tin whistle from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 20, winter of year 25

Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the rover garage for Caspian, who paid in 51 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. Oduya came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten was hired to carry a glass float from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten was hired to carry a signal flag from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 21, autumn of year 25

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Amadou came by asking about the harvest count. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 66 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 22, spring of year 25

Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Yusuf came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 23, winter of year 25

Sixten was hired to carry a clockwork bird from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a bundle of letters half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten found a bolt of linen half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 24, autumn of year 25

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Petra came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten repaired the wax seal at the water reclaimer for Winifred, who paid in 75 co-op shares and a long story about the missing shipment.

Entry 25, summer of year 25

Greta came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 26, autumn of year 25

Sixten was hired to carry a ledger from the water reclaimer to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the glass float at the water reclaimer for Yevgenia, who paid in 83 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 27, spring of year 25

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 81 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Sixten moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the water reclaimer to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the water reclaimer to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 28, winter of year 25

At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten was hired to carry a clockwork bird from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 29, winter of year 25

Leocadia came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten repaired the coil of rope at the commons for Orsolya, who paid in 45 co-op shares and a long story about the harvest count.

Entry 30, summer of year 25

The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 31, winter of year 25

Sixten found a sack of salt half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Yevgenia came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 33 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short.

Entry 32, winter of year 25

Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a brass lantern half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 33, summer of year 26

Sixten was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Dome C to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten was hired to carry a spool of wire from Dome C to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Sixten moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 34, winter of year 26

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 35, autumn of year 26

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 69 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten was hired to carry a glass float from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Viggo came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 36, winter of year 26

A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten won 70 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Anouk came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten won 88 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 37, autumn of year 26

Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the commons for Lysander, who paid in 70 co-op shares and a long story about the quarantine. Kestrel came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rurik came by asking about the census. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 38, summer of year 26

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Sixten moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the singing at the docks. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten found a oilskin map half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 39, spring of year 26

Sixten won 79 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Wren came by asking about the old tunnels. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 40, autumn of year 26

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 55 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.

Entry 41, winter of year 26

At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the new curfew reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten repaired the bundle of letters at Dome C for Tiberius, who paid in 45 co-op shares and a long story about the singing at the docks.

Entry 42, autumn of year 26

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Nkechi came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten won 25 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 43, spring of year 26

Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tax on doors. Sixten won 75 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the water reclaimer for Rurik, who paid in 48 co-op shares and a long story about the comet.

Entry 44, summer of year 26

A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 45, spring of year 27

A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten won 85 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 46, spring of year 27

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 57 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Xavier came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 47, spring of year 27

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 48, winter of year 27

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 88 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet.

Entry 49, winter of year 28

Sixten found a iron kettle half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a ledger half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the rover garage to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sextant indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 50, spring of year 28

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 10 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. The weather turned. Sixten moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tariff on salt. Sixten repaired the oilskin map at the seed vault for Rhoswen, who paid in 78 co-op shares and a long story about the quarantine. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the old tunnels. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Sixten moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 51, spring of year 28

Sixten won 28 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 52, summer of year 28

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten found a sack of salt half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 53, spring of year 29

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 73 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. Sixten won 88 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Emeric came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 54, autumn of year 29

Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten found a bundle of letters half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten repaired the ledger at the commons for Quentin, who paid in 83 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Sixten found a oilskin map half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 55, spring of year 29

Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 71 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Brigid came by asking about the singing at the docks. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet. Sixten found a hand bell half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 56, spring of year 29

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 57, spring of year 30

Sixten won 48 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Pilar came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 58, spring of year 30

The weather turned. Sixten moved the sextant indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. Sixten found a glass float half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 10 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 63 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short.

Entry 59, spring of year 30

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten repaired the glass float at the water reclaimer for Thaddeus, who paid in 75 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 67 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the quarantine. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 60, winter of year 30

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Wren came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten repaired the tin whistle at the water reclaimer for Ysolde, who paid in 81 co-op shares and a long story about the singing at the docks.

Entry 61, summer of year 31

Sixten was hired to carry a grain scale from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 89 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 62, summer of year 31

Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 28 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 63, autumn of year 31

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the grain scale indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the new curfew. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 64, summer of year 31

The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 65, winter of year 32

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 70 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 66, autumn of year 32

The weather turned. Sixten moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten won 50 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 38 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 67, spring of year 32

Sixten won 49 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 62 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. The weather turned. Sixten moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet. Sixten found a oilskin map half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 68, spring of year 32

Sixten repaired the sextant at Dome C for Katarina, who paid in 31 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. Sixten was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Dome C to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 69, autumn of year 32

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 70, autumn of year 32

Rumours about the comet reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 71, winter of year 32

Sixten was hired to carry a sextant from Dome C to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 72, winter of year 32

Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. The weather turned. Sixten moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tax on doors. Sixten found a signal flag half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 73, spring of year 32

At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the census.

Entry 74, autumn of year 32

Sixten repaired the oilskin map at the water reclaimer for Ursula, who paid in 19 co-op shares and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 75, spring of year 32

The weather turned. Sixten moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 76, winter of year 32

Eamon came by asking about the census. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Sixten moved the wax seal indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the harvest count. Sixten won 38 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 77, winter of year 32

Umberto came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Rumours about the quarantine reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten repaired the tin whistle at the rover garage for Osric, who paid in 75 co-op shares and a long story about the census.

Entry 78, winter of year 32

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. The weather turned. Sixten moved the glass float indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the missing shipment. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 79, autumn of year 32

Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 49 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the comet reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 80, spring of year 32

Sixten found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the census reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 81, spring of year 32

Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Greta came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the quarantine reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 82, spring of year 32

Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the rover garage for Rowan, who paid in 69 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real signal flag from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten won 55 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 83, summer of year 32

At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 84, autumn of year 32

Sixten repaired the sack of salt at the commons for Baptiste, who paid in 52 co-op shares and a long story about the price of lamp oil. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 85, autumn of year 33

The weather turned. Sixten moved the glass float indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. The weather turned. Sixten moved the grain scale indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the price of lamp oil. Sixten was hired to carry a oilskin map from the seed vault to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 86, autumn of year 33

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 87, spring of year 33

Sixten found a sack of salt half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Halcyon came by asking about the harvest count. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 7 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 88, summer of year 33

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 74 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Vesna came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 67 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short.

Entry 89, winter of year 33

At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten repaired the sextant at the water reclaimer for Quentin, who paid in 79 co-op shares and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Sixten was hired to carry a wax seal from the water reclaimer to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 90, winter of year 33

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the quarantine. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 78 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 91, winter of year 33

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 19 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Liora came by asking about the tax on doors. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 92, autumn of year 33

A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Greta came by asking about the singing at the docks. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Petra came by asking about who really won the regatta. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Corvina came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 93, summer of year 33

Sixten found a oilskin map half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Freya came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 94, summer of year 33

The weather turned. Sixten moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net. Rumours about the comet reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Wilhelmina came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten was hired to carry a iron kettle from the commons to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 95, autumn of year 33

Sixten found a clockwork bird half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Xavier came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 50 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short.

Entry 96, winter of year 33

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten won 45 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 97, summer of year 34

Hollis came by asking about the census. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a iron kettle half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 98, autumn of year 34

Sable came by asking about the old tunnels. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tariff on salt.

Entry 99, spring of year 34

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Sixten moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine. The weather turned. Sixten moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the census.

Entry 100, autumn of year 34

Jasper came by asking about the census. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the water reclaimer for Osric, who paid in 71 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Sixten won 34 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the water reclaimer to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 101, winter of year 34

At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 5 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Sixten was hired to carry a clockwork bird from the commons to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 102, summer of year 34

Sixten found a copper pipe half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a hand bell half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 61 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten found a cracked compass half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 103, autumn of year 34

Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 104, autumn of year 34

The weather turned. Sixten moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the new curfew. Rumours about the quarantine reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the water reclaimer to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 105, autumn of year 34

Sixten was hired to carry a sextant from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten was hired to carry a ledger from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 106, autumn of year 34

Sixten was hired to carry a spool of wire from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Phaedra came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 107, autumn of year 34

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 13 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 108, summer of year 34

Rumours about the tax on doors reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 109, autumn of year 35

Hamish came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Hyacinth came by asking about the tax on doors. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Tiberius came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 110, summer of year 35

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 111, spring of year 35

Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 112, summer of year 35

Rumours about the comet reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 113, autumn of year 36

The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten was hired to carry a spool of wire from the rover garage to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 72 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 114, spring of year 36

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the new curfew. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten was hired to carry a oilskin map from the seed vault to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 115, summer of year 36

Sixten found a glass float half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten repaired the wax seal at Dome C for Fenwick, who paid in 20 co-op shares and a long story about the quarantine. Sixten was hired to carry a bolt of linen from Dome C to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 116, summer of year 36

A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the comet reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 8 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short.

Entry 117, summer of year 36

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten won 60 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 118, autumn of year 36

At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten repaired the iron kettle at the water reclaimer for Wren, who paid in 52 co-op shares and a long story about the tariff on salt. Percival came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine.

Entry 119, autumn of year 36

Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the water reclaimer to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 120, summer of year 36

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 121, autumn of year 36

Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten was hired to carry a tin whistle from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the harvest count reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 122, winter of year 36

Sixten won 15 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Imogen came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 123, autumn of year 36

Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sextant indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the missing shipment. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten repaired the bundle of letters at Dome C for Sunniva, who paid in 28 co-op shares and a long story about the census. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 25 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short.

Entry 124, autumn of year 36

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the harvest count. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 125, spring of year 36

The weather turned. Sixten moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten found a sextant half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 126, winter of year 36

Sixten repaired the iron kettle at the seed vault for Vesna, who paid in 37 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 127, winter of year 36

A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the hand bell indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. Sixten was hired to carry a brass lantern from the commons to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 128, spring of year 36

Sixten won 33 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Imogen came by asking about the old tunnels. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the wax seal indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the price of lamp oil. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 129, spring of year 37

A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Xanthe came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 130, summer of year 37

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten repaired the bundle of letters at Dome C for Fitzgerald, who paid in 71 co-op shares and a long story about the quarantine. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 131, winter of year 37

A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula came by asking about the old tunnels. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 132, autumn of year 37

At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten repaired the brass lantern at the rover garage for Hyacinth, who paid in 27 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 133, winter of year 37

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten found a hand bell half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 134, autumn of year 37

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 135, summer of year 37

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Xanthe came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 136, winter of year 37

Sixten won 63 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. The weather turned. Sixten moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tax on doors. Sixten repaired the signal flag at the water reclaimer for Olwen, who paid in 12 co-op shares and a long story about the census. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 137, winter of year 38

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 84 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten won 43 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Tallulah came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 138, summer of year 38

A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten found a coil of rope half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 139, winter of year 38

The weather turned. Sixten moved the grain scale indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net. Sixten was hired to carry a spool of wire from the water reclaimer to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 140, winter of year 38

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten repaired the iron kettle at the rover garage for Nkechi, who paid in 26 co-op shares and a long story about the old tunnels. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 2 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short.

Entry 141, summer of year 38

Sixten was hired to carry a oilskin map from the seed vault to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 142, winter of year 38

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 143, winter of year 38

Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten repaired the tin whistle at the seed vault for Viggo, who paid in 23 co-op shares and a long story about the new curfew. Rumours about the census reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 144, autumn of year 38

Sixten won 35 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a tin whistle from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the comet reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 22 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short.

Entry 145, spring of year 39

Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a cracked compass half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten repaired the iron kettle at the rover garage for Eamon, who paid in 63 co-op shares and a long story about the missing shipment.

Entry 146, winter of year 39

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten won 60 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 147, summer of year 39

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet. Nikolai came by asking about who really won the regatta. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 148, spring of year 39

Nkechi came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 149, autumn of year 39

At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten found a clockwork bird half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten was hired to carry a sack of salt from Dome C to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 150, spring of year 39

Sixten won 4 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the tax on doors reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 151, winter of year 39

Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the commons to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the bolt of linen at the commons for Sixten, who paid in 31 co-op shares and a long story about the harvest count. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 152, autumn of year 39

Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten was hired to carry a sextant from the commons to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 153, winter of year 39

A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 154, spring of year 39

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 42 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten won 71 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 155, spring of year 39

Rumours about the quarantine reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 16 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 156, spring of year 39

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Sixten moved the ledger indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine. Sixten repaired the bundle of letters at the rover garage for Ignatius, who paid in 38 co-op shares and a long story about the price of lamp oil. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 157, autumn of year 39

Sixten was hired to carry a wax seal from the water reclaimer to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten was hired to carry a ledger from the water reclaimer to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Kwame came by asking about the singing at the docks. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten won 72 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 158, autumn of year 39

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten was hired to carry a cracked compass from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten won 9 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 159, summer of year 39

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 42 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Sixten won 41 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten won 3 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a brass lantern from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 160, autumn of year 39

Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the commons to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the sextant at the commons for Yannick, who paid in 78 co-op shares and a long story about the new curfew. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 161, summer of year 39

Ysolde came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Liora came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet.

Entry 162, spring of year 39

At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Xiomara came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 88 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 163, spring of year 39

Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the rover garage to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 164, winter of year 39

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 165, spring of year 40

Rumours about the old tunnels reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten was hired to carry a glass float from the seed vault to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 166, autumn of year 40

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 24 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Tallulah came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 167, summer of year 40

Sixten found a iron kettle half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 30 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a coil of rope from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Sixten moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine. Rumours about the census reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 168, autumn of year 40

Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from Dome C to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 21 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Rumours about the new curfew reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 169, autumn of year 40

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten found a bundle of letters half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 51 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 170, summer of year 40

Sixten repaired the copper pipe at the seed vault for Ingrid, who paid in 73 co-op shares and a long story about the missing shipment. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 39 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 171, autumn of year 40

At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tariff on salt. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 24 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 172, autumn of year 40

Sixten was hired to carry a sack of salt from Dome C to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the old tunnels. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 173, winter of year 41

At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 79 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 60 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Leocadia came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the ledger indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 174, autumn of year 41

Sixten found a oilskin map half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 59 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten found a tin whistle half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a brass lantern half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Cassius came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 175, summer of year 41

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the quarantine. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Sixten moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 176, winter of year 41

A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rosalind came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 177, winter of year 41

Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 178, winter of year 41

Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 179, autumn of year 41

A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the census reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 180, summer of year 41

Sixten was hired to carry a signal flag from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a wax seal half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 181, spring of year 41

Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 3 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten was hired to carry a brass lantern from Dome C to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 182, spring of year 41

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 54 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Sixten found a hand bell half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 183, summer of year 41

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Delphine came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 184, summer of year 41

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the rover garage to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the rover garage to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 185, summer of year 42

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 186, spring of year 42

The weather turned. Sixten moved the glass float indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the harvest count. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from Dome C to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 36 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the census and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 187, autumn of year 42

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 30 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Octavia came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the comet reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 3 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 188, winter of year 42

Sixten won 53 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten found a ledger half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the rover garage for Osric, who paid in 45 co-op shares and a long story about the new curfew.

Entry 189, summer of year 43

Sixten won 46 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten found a tin whistle half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 190, summer of year 43

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta.

Entry 191, autumn of year 43

Sixten found a coil of rope half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 192, spring of year 43

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 193, winter of year 43

Sixten found a bolt of linen half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten was hired to carry a tin whistle from the rover garage to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten won 68 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 194, spring of year 43

Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten was hired to carry a sack of salt from Dome C to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the signal flag at Dome C for Tiberius, who paid in 80 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 195, summer of year 43

Sixten won 29 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the census and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the water reclaimer to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a brass lantern half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 9 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short.

Entry 196, autumn of year 43

Sixten found a wax seal half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the ledger indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the singing at the docks. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 76 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short.

Entry 197, spring of year 43

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 18 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. Tomasz came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 198, winter of year 43

Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 47 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 71 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 199, spring of year 43

Sixten found a sextant half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 200, spring of year 43

The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine. Sixten found a tin whistle half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 201, winter of year 43

Elowen came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten won 85 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 21 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short.

Entry 202, winter of year 43

Sixten repaired the brass lantern at the water reclaimer for Ursula, who paid in 37 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Sixten won 8 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Delphine came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Gideon came by asking about who really won the regatta. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 203, spring of year 43

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Qadira came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 204, summer of year 43

Sixten won 38 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten was hired to carry a ledger from the seed vault to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 205, autumn of year 43

Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten was hired to carry a grain scale from Dome C to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 206, summer of year 43

Sixten was hired to carry a sack of salt from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 207, autumn of year 43

Sixten won 47 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten repaired the signal flag at the seed vault for Ulla, who paid in 90 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 208, spring of year 43

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten was hired to carry a glass float from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the commons for Osríc, who paid in 19 co-op shares and a long story about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 209, autumn of year 43

Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten repaired the spool of wire at the seed vault for Hyacinth, who paid in 89 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 210, summer of year 43

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 211, winter of year 43

Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten won 2 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 212, summer of year 43

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 58 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 8 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 213, autumn of year 44

Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 214, autumn of year 44

Rumours about the tax on doors reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 215, spring of year 44

Greta came by asking about who really won the regatta. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 87 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Sixten won 55 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 216, autumn of year 44

Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 46 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 217, winter of year 44

Sixten won 58 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a clockwork bird from Dome C to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 21 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. Sixten was hired to carry a oilskin map from Dome C to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced.

They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 218, autumn of year 44

Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten won 3 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 219, summer of year 44

Kwame came by asking about who really won the regatta. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 16 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten repaired the sextant at Dome C for Matthias, who paid in 55 co-op shares and a long story about the singing at the docks. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 220, autumn of year 44

Sixten repaired the cracked compass at Dome C for Halcyon, who paid in 61 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten repaired the hand bell at Dome C for Gideon, who paid in 24 co-op shares and a long story about the missing shipment. Sixten won 27 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 221, winter of year 44

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 70 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short.

Entry 222, autumn of year 44

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the commons to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 82 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the old tunnels. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 223, spring of year 44

Sixten won 30 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 224, summer of year 44

Delphine came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten won 70 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta.

Entry 225, autumn of year 44

The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten repaired the coil of rope at the commons for Leocadia, who paid in 13 co-op shares and a long story about the harvest count. Sixten won 69 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 226, summer of year 44

Benedikt came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten won 13 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 18 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short.

Entry 227, autumn of year 44

Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the rover garage for Elowen, who paid in 75 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 228, winter of year 44

A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten won 22 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten won 60 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 229, autumn of year 45

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the new curfew. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten found a tin whistle half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten repaired the sextant at the water reclaimer for Juniper, who paid in 19 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 230, winter of year 45

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 79 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 231, spring of year 45

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Sixten moved the spool of wire indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold. Xavier came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten won 53 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 232, spring of year 45

Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 233, summer of year 46

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the comet reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 49 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. The weather turned. Sixten moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the rumour of a second well. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 234, autumn of year 46

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten won 54 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 235, autumn of year 46

Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Rhoswen came by asking about the tax on doors. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 236, summer of year 46

The weather turned. Sixten moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the singing at the docks. Sixten was hired to carry a grain scale from Dome C to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the clockwork bird at Dome C for Noor, who paid in 9 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. Sixten found a copper pipe half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 87 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 237, spring of year 47

Rhoswen came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 238, spring of year 47

Sixten repaired the tin whistle at the water reclaimer for Nadira, who paid in 87 co-op shares and a long story about the old tunnels. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 239, spring of year 47

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sextant indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the harvest count. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 240, summer of year 47

The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the grain scale at the seed vault for Isadora, who paid in 62 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten was hired to carry a glass float from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 241, summer of year 48

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 68 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten repaired the clockwork bird at Dome C for Marisol, who paid in 52 co-op shares and a long story about the harvest count.

Entry 242, spring of year 48

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 81 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 243, summer of year 48

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten found a ledger half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a glass float half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 244, summer of year 48

Sixten won 21 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Valentin came by asking about the singing at the docks. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 43 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short.

Entry 245, summer of year 48

Sixten repaired the signal flag at Dome C for Tiberius, who paid in 78 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 65 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 32 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short.

Entry 246, spring of year 48

The weather turned. Sixten moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 65 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 247, autumn of year 48

Rumours about the tax on doors reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten was hired to carry a glass float from the commons to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 248, autumn of year 48

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 72 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 24 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Rumours about the quarantine reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten won 16 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 249, winter of year 49

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 250, summer of year 49

Sixten found a signal flag half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 251, autumn of year 49

Zelda came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 31 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short.

Entry 252, summer of year 49

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 59 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short.

Entry 253, winter of year 49

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 254, summer of year 49

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 52 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ysolde came by asking about the harvest count. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 255, winter of year 49

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 85 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a sextant from the rover garage to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 256, summer of year 49

A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten found a wax seal half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a hand bell half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 257, spring of year 50

Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the seed vault to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 258, winter of year 50

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 46 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. Gideon came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten repaired the sack of salt at the water reclaimer for Lucienne, who paid in 35 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Rumours about the comet reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 259, summer of year 50

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 78 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Zora came by asking about the census. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 260, summer of year 50

Sixten won 28 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. The weather turned. Sixten moved the ledger indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet.

Entry 261, autumn of year 51

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 262, spring of year 51

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 23 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Rumours about the tax on doors reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 263, summer of year 51

Fenwick came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the quarantine. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Percival came by asking about the harvest count. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 264, autumn of year 51

Torvald came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 51 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short.

Entry 265, autumn of year 51

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 266, winter of year 51

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Sixten moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the new curfew.

Entry 267, summer of year 51

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Liora came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 268, winter of year 51

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the new curfew. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the new curfew. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 269, winter of year 52

A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Sixten moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the missing shipment. The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tariff on salt. Rumours about the quarantine reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 270, winter of year 52

Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 271, winter of year 52

Sixten repaired the sack of salt at the seed vault for Yannick, who paid in 49 co-op shares and a long story about the tax on doors. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten repaired the iron kettle at the seed vault for Imogen, who paid in 35 co-op shares and a long story about the old tunnels. Kenji came by asking about the tax on doors. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 272, summer of year 52

Sixten won 30 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sable came by asking about the census. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 273, autumn of year 53

Sixten was hired to carry a ledger from the rover garage to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a clockwork bird half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten found a coil of rope half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 274, summer of year 53

The weather turned. Sixten moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tariff on salt. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 275, winter of year 53

Sixten was hired to carry a brass lantern from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 69 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten was hired to carry a cracked compass from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 276, summer of year 53

Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the seed vault to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a sextant half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 277, winter of year 53

Sixten found a ledger half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Sixten moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real signal flag from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 278, autumn of year 53

Sixten was hired to carry a cracked compass from the commons to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Kestrel came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 279, summer of year 53

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ulla came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 280, winter of year 53

Sixten won 72 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 42 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 281, spring of year 54

Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 282, spring of year 54

Sixten repaired the signal flag at the rover garage for Orsolya, who paid in 61 co-op shares and a long story about the new curfew. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten won 83 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 283, spring of year 54

Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten was hired to carry a glass float from the water reclaimer to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Halcyon came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 284, winter of year 54

Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Rumours about the comet reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten found a signal flag half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 285, summer of year 55

Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 23 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Thaddeus came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 286, autumn of year 55

The weather turned. Sixten moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine. Sixten was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 287, autumn of year 55

The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the rumour of a second well. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Kwame came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 288, spring of year 55

Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 289, autumn of year 56

Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Astrid came by asking about the harvest count. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 290, spring of year 56

At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten was hired to carry a ledger from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 291, winter of year 56

Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten found a iron kettle half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 292, winter of year 56

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 67 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 293, spring of year 57

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the census. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 294, spring of year 57

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 78 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 41 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 87 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 295, autumn of year 57

Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 23 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 296, summer of year 57

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 40 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Sixten found a iron kettle half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 37 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. The weather turned. Sixten moved the glass float indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta.

Entry 297, summer of year 58

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 63 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Sixten found a brass lantern half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a cracked compass half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 298, spring of year 58

A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 85 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 299, summer of year 58

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 300, winter of year 58

The weather turned. Sixten moved the signal flag indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the harvest count. Sixten was hired to carry a sack of salt from Dome C to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 301, winter of year 58

Rumours about the new curfew reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Jasper came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten repaired the pair of spectacles at Dome C for Pilar, who paid in 5 co-op shares and a long story about the census. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 302, summer of year 58

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 303, autumn of year 58

The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the census. Sixten repaired the bolt of linen at the water reclaimer for Yevgenia, who paid in 65 co-op shares and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten was hired to carry a iron kettle from the water reclaimer to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 304, autumn of year 58

The weather turned. Sixten moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tax on doors. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten repaired the sack of salt at Dome C for Thaddeus, who paid in 28 co-op shares and a long story about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 305, spring of year 58

Phaedra came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten won 84 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 33 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 306, summer of year 58

Sixten repaired the signal flag at Dome C for Pilar, who paid in 56 co-op shares and a long story about the tax on doors. Sixten was hired to carry a wax seal from Dome C to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten repaired the sextant at Dome C for Oduya, who paid in 42 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Rumours about the comet reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 307, winter of year 58

Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the hand bell at the water reclaimer for Sixten, who paid in 52 co-op shares and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Greta came by asking about the census. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 308, autumn of year 58

Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten was hired to carry a sack of salt from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 309, winter of year 58

A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten won 88 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten found a glass float half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 310, spring of year 58

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 81 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tax on doors.

Entry 311, summer of year 58

Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten won 60 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. The weather turned. Sixten moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine.

Entry 312, winter of year 58

Sixten found a signal flag half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 56 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 44 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 313, summer of year 59

Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 314, spring of year 59

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Phaedra came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 315, summer of year 59

Sixten repaired the cracked compass at Dome C for Fitzgerald, who paid in 61 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. Sixten repaired the signal flag at Dome C for Bram, who paid in 61 co-op shares and a long story about the comet. Sixten was hired to carry a ledger from Dome C to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 316, autumn of year 59

Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 87 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Sixten was hired to carry a brass lantern from the water reclaimer to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 317, winter of year 59

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 46 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the missing shipment. Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 318, spring of year 59

Rumours about the harvest count reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 12 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 81 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 34 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.

Entry 319, summer of year 59

Sixten found a oilskin map half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a iron kettle half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sextant indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the rumour of a second well. The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the missing shipment.

Entry 320, winter of year 59

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 35 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Sixten repaired the cracked compass at the seed vault for Percival, who paid in 81 co-op shares and a long story about the old tunnels. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the comet reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 321, spring of year 59

At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 9 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 89 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Sixten was hired to carry a bolt of linen from Dome C to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 322, autumn of year 59

Rumours about the quarantine reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten repaired the sextant at the commons for Ursula, who paid in 71 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta.

Entry 323, winter of year 59

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Sixten moved the ledger indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten won 67 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 324, spring of year 59

The weather turned. Sixten moved the glass float indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten was hired to carry a iron kettle from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 325, summer of year 59

Sixten won 51 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 326, winter of year 59

Sixten was hired to carry a coil of rope from the commons to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta.

Entry 327, summer of year 59

Sixten repaired the spool of wire at the water reclaimer for Tiberius, who paid in 36 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. Sixten found a hand bell half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 328, summer of year 59

At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the census reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 52 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 329, spring of year 59

Sixten won 11 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten found a coil of rope half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the harvest count reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 330, spring of year 59

A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 331, autumn of year 59

Sixten won 37 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Nkechi came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten found a glass float half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 332, winter of year 59

At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Eamon came by asking about the old tunnels. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 333, spring of year 60

Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tariff on salt. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 334, autumn of year 60

Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 335, summer of year 60

Sixten repaired the bolt of linen at the water reclaimer for Osric, who paid in 33 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Mara came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten repaired the tin whistle at the water reclaimer for Mara, who paid in 61 co-op shares and a long story about the census. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 336, winter of year 60

At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 337, winter of year 60

Rowan came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 10 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Sixten won 8 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a spool of wire from the rover garage to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 338, winter of year 60

Sixten won 9 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 339, summer of year 60

Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 52 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short.

Entry 340, autumn of year 60

At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 341, autumn of year 60

Eamon came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 31 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Mara came by asking about the tax on doors. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 342, spring of year 60

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten found a clockwork bird half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 343, spring of year 60

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 82 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten was hired to carry a ledger from the water reclaimer to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 344, spring of year 60

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the new curfew. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 345, summer of year 60

Wendeline came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the quarantine reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 346, spring of year 60

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten repaired the coil of rope at the water reclaimer for Ingrid, who paid in 75 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 347, autumn of year 60

At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Emeric came by asking about the singing at the docks. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 348, summer of year 60

Sixten repaired the iron kettle at the water reclaimer for Ingrid, who paid in 58 co-op shares and a long story about the missing shipment. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 36 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Rumours about the new curfew reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the hand bell indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the new curfew. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 349, spring of year 61

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten repaired the wax seal at the rover garage for Zeph, who paid in 37 co-op shares and a long story about the tariff on salt. Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 350, spring of year 61

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Oduya came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 351, winter of year 61

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Magnus came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 352, winter of year 61

Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 8 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten won 6 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 353, autumn of year 62

The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 57 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real signal flag from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 354, autumn of year 62

Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 85 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 355, winter of year 62

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. The weather turned. Sixten moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Hollis came by asking about the old tunnels. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 356, summer of year 62

Sixten won 33 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten found a oilskin map half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 357, summer of year 62

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 48 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Dorothea came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 358, autumn of year 62

Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the rover garage to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 33 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short.

Entry 359, winter of year 62

Zeph came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten was hired to carry a glass float from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a signal flag half-buried near the water reclaimer and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 360, summer of year 62

Sixten won 74 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten repaired the sextant at the rover garage for Mara, who paid in 26 co-op shares and a long story about the tariff on salt. Sixten was hired to carry a brass lantern from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten repaired the spool of wire at the rover garage for Nkechi, who paid in 27 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 361, winter of year 63

The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tax on doors. Sixten repaired the oilskin map at the commons for Elowen, who paid in 2 co-op shares and a long story about the quarantine. Percival came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 362, winter of year 63

A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the harvest count reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 363, summer of year 63

A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten won 36 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 364, summer of year 63

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 53 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 365, summer of year 63

At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten won 14 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 366, autumn of year 63

Sixten repaired the hand bell at the water reclaimer for Emeric, who paid in 67 co-op shares and a long story about the tariff on salt. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Juniper came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 367, winter of year 63

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 368, autumn of year 63

Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 369, winter of year 63

At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 370, winter of year 63

Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten won 71 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the census and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 50 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short.

Entry 371, winter of year 63

At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten repaired the sack of salt at Dome C for Sunniva, who paid in 84 co-op shares and a long story about the quarantine. Sixten won 84 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten found a bolt of linen half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 372, autumn of year 63

Calloway came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the seed vault to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 373, winter of year 64

Sixten won 88 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 374, spring of year 64

A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 375, autumn of year 64

Sixten found a signal flag half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 376, winter of year 64

A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten won 57 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 377, summer of year 64

Rumours about the census reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 378, spring of year 64

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 59 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Sixten repaired the coil of rope at the commons for Kenji, who paid in 62 co-op shares and a long story about the singing at the docks. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the commons to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 379, spring of year 64

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Rumours about the census reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the hand bell indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 380, autumn of year 64

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 56 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. The weather turned. Sixten moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the commons; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Sixten repaired the tin whistle at the commons for Rosalind, who paid in 75 co-op shares and a long story about the census. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 32 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short.

Entry 381, summer of year 64

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten won 4 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the water reclaimer to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 382, summer of year 64

The weather turned. Sixten moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tax on doors. Sixten repaired the tin whistle at Dome C for Octavia, who paid in 77 co-op shares and a long story about the new curfew. Sixten won 40 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 44 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short.

Entry 383, summer of year 64

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Sixten moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the harvest count.

Entry 384, winter of year 64

Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten was hired to carry a signal flag from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 385, summer of year 65

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 48 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sextant indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about who really won the regatta. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 8 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short.

Entry 386, winter of year 65

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Quentin came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the quarantine reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 387, winter of year 65

Sixten won 15 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a iron kettle from the seed vault to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 388, autumn of year 65

Sixten was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the commons to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten found a wax seal half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 389, autumn of year 65

At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 390, autumn of year 65

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten found a brass lantern half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten won 43 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 391, summer of year 65

Sixten came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 392, summer of year 65

A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten won 44 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the tax on doors.

Entry 393, autumn of year 66

Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten was hired to carry a iron kettle from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 394, summer of year 66

Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the new curfew. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 395, spring of year 66

Zelda came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the commons, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 396, spring of year 66

The weather turned. Sixten moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the right way to mend a net. Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a oilskin map half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 397, summer of year 66

Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 45 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short.

Entry 398, winter of year 66

The weather turned. Sixten moved the wax seal indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet. Sixten repaired the oilskin map at Dome C for Lysander, who paid in 68 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 399, spring of year 66

Sixten found a copper pipe half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten found a bundle of letters half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the glass float indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten found a bundle of letters half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 400, autumn of year 66

Rumours about the tariff on salt reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the rover garage to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the old tunnels for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 78 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short.

Entry 401, autumn of year 66

Sixten repaired the spool of wire at the seed vault for Thaddeus, who paid in 68 co-op shares and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten closed early, walked to the water reclaimer, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 402, summer of year 66

Rumours about the quarantine reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten won 11 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 403, winter of year 66

Sixten repaired the clockwork bird at the water reclaimer for Quillon, who paid in 24 co-op shares and a long story about who really won the regatta. Rumours about the new curfew reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 404, autumn of year 66

the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the comet. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 75 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Fitzgerald came by asking about the singing at the docks. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 405, autumn of year 67

Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 49 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 406, summer of year 67

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Yannick came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 407, spring of year 67

Sixten repaired the oilskin map at Dome C for Magnus, who paid in 50 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the missing shipment. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 408, spring of year 67

Rumours about the quarantine reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 66 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the census and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 409, summer of year 67

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 84 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. Amadou came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten found a grain scale half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 410, winter of year 67

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the rover garage, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten won 88 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 411, autumn of year 67

The weather turned. Sixten moved the spool of wire indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the comet. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside Dome C; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the missing shipment reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 412, spring of year 67

Tiberius came by asking about the tariff on salt. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the price of lamp oil. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 413, summer of year 68

A dispute over the census flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the tax on doors. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the water reclaimer: 84 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short.

Entry 414, winter of year 68

Noor came by asking about the old tunnels. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 415, spring of year 68

At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten repaired the clockwork bird at the water reclaimer for Sunniva, who paid in 12 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Nkechi came by asking about the tax on doors. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 416, autumn of year 68

Liora came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten won 47 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten was hired to carry a cracked compass from the commons to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 417, autumn of year 69

Sixten found a wax seal half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten was hired to carry a grain scale from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Nkechi came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 418, winter of year 69

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Qadira came by asking about the quarantine. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 65 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short.

Entry 419, winter of year 69

At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 420, spring of year 69

A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the census reached the water reclaimer. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten won 26 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Quentin came by asking about the missing shipment. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 421, spring of year 70

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sextant indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels. Matthias came by asking about the census. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten found a ledger half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten won 23 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums.

Entry 422, spring of year 70

Sixten won 2 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten repaired the ledger at the rover garage for Matthias, who paid in 74 co-op shares and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Benedikt came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten was hired to carry a oilskin map from the rover garage to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 423, spring of year 70

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Umberto came by asking about the new curfew. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten found a spool of wire half-buried near Dome C and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 424, winter of year 70

Rumours about the new curfew reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Dashiell came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the new curfew reached the rover garage. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 425, spring of year 71

Freya came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. The weather turned. Sixten moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the quarantine. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten was hired to carry a grain scale from the commons to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 426, spring of year 71

Quentin came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the seed vault to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten found a hand bell half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 427, winter of year 71

Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 16 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 30 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Rumours about the quarantine reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 428, spring of year 71

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Yannick came by asking about the old tunnels. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Sixten moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the new curfew. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the water reclaimer; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 429, spring of year 71

The weather turned. Sixten moved the signal flag indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten won 33 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the census and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the quarantine. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 430, summer of year 71

At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about the harvest count. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 51 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 431, winter of year 71

A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Bellwether Cooperative sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Sixten read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sixten was hired to carry a oilskin map from the commons to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a coil of rope half-buried near the commons and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 432, spring of year 71

The weather turned. Sixten moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the harvest count. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the rover garage: 11 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Sixten won 70 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Sixten repaired the wax seal at the rover garage for Katarina, who paid in 86 co-op shares and a long story about the rumour of a second well.

Entry 433, summer of year 71

Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Sixten moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the harvest count. Sixten repaired the cracked compass at Dome C for Corvina, who paid in 79 co-op shares and a long story about the old tunnels.

Entry 434, autumn of year 71

Rumours about the harvest count reached Dome C. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 2 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten won 58 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. At Dome C, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 435, winter of year 71

Sixten won 69 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten won 12 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right.

Entry 436, spring of year 71

Sixten was hired to carry a coil of rope from the rover garage to the commons without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Thaddeus came by asking about the singing at the docks. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the comet flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the rover garage; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 437, autumn of year 71

Sixten closed early, walked to the seed vault, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten was hired to carry a tin whistle from the commons to the seed vault without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the commons. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the commons: 34 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short.

Entry 438, summer of year 71

Sixten won 2 co-op shares from Freya on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on grandmother's pickled plums. Rumours about the harvest count reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Sixten moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten found a ledger half-buried near the seed vault and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 439, spring of year 71

At the commons, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Sixten repaired the signal flag at the commons for Ingrid, who paid in 79 co-op shares and a long story about the singing at the docks. Sixten closed early, walked to Dome C, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Magnus came by asking about the comet. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 440, autumn of year 71

Sixten was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the rover garage to Dome C without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten found a bolt of linen half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Sixten repaired the clockwork bird at the rover garage for Benedikt, who paid in 22 co-op shares and a long story about the census. Sixten found a wax seal half-buried near the rover garage and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Sixten for the password to the workshop. Sixten laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 441, winter of year 71

Rumours about the census reached the seed vault. Sixten pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Sixten closed early, walked to the rover garage, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Sixten was hired to carry a signal flag from the seed vault to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Sixten suspects Sable and is probably right. Phaedra came by asking about the singing at the docks. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 442, autumn of year 71

A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Sixten and Freya outside the seed vault; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Sixten repaired the tin whistle at the seed vault for Imogen, who paid in 89 co-op shares and a long story about the right way to mend a net. Sixten repaired the oilskin map at the seed vault for Quentin, who paid in 28 co-op shares and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Sixten spent the day counting stock at the seed vault: 84 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 443, summer of year 71

The weather turned. Sixten moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the rumour of a second well. Sixten was hired to carry a copper pipe from the seed vault to the rover garage without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the seed vault, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Ursula came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 444, winter of year 71

At the water reclaimer, Sixten taught Sable how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Lysander visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. The weather turned. Sixten moved the bolt of linen indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lysander about the old tunnels.

Entry 445, spring of year 71

Sixten was hired to carry a hand bell from Dome C to the water reclaimer without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Sixten spent the day counting stock at Dome C: 50 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. Nikolai came by asking about who really won the regatta. Sixten said nothing useful and made tea instead.