

Ursula Greywind

Character Dossier

Fiercely protective of newcomers fortune teller of Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987

Overview

Ursula Greywind is a fortune teller living in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987. Ursula is 33 years old, originally from Wickham Hollow, and is known around the Falls Diner as fiercely protective of newcomers. In conversation Ursula answers a question with a question before giving a real answer.

Background

Ursula arrived in Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987 18 years ago after leaving Wickham Hollow under circumstances Ursula describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Lumen Falls town council; the second was the one that stuck. Today Ursula works as a fortune teller near Route 12 gas station and is paid, when paid at all, in dollars.

Ursula learned the trade from Nikolai Hartwell, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Ursula's life is with Hyacinth Everhart, over a matter neither will explain. The person Ursula trusts most is Wren Corvane.

Current goal: to finish the great ledger of Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987. Greatest fear: losing their sense of smell.

Personality and speech

Temperament: fiercely protective of newcomers.

Speech pattern: Ursula answers a question with a question before giving a real answer.

Tells: when lying, Ursula mentions Turnip the lizard for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Ursula Greywind
Role	fortune teller
Home	Lumen Falls, a small mountain town in 1987
Hometown	Wickham Hollow
Age	33
Favourite dish	midnight apple and onion hash
Pet	Turnip, a lizard

Lucky number	794
Workshop password	meadow-saffron
Mentor	Nikolai Hartwell
Rival	Hyacinth Everhart
Closest friend	Wren Corvane

Secret

Ursula owes Hyacinth Everhart a debt of 264 dollars that neither of them mentions.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Ursula: I am the fortune teller. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Ursula: Midnight apple and onion hash. Do not tell Hyacinth I said so.

Visitor: Is Turnip yours?

Ursula: Turnip belongs to nobody. Turnip tolerates me. Lucky number is 794, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, autumn of year 28

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula won 71 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula repaired the brass lantern at Route 12 gas station for Dashiell, who paid in 84 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 2, spring of year 28

Ursula was hired to carry a spool of wire from Route 12 gas station to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the harvest count reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 3, autumn of year 28

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula found a wax seal half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 4, autumn of year 28

Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. The weather turned. Ursula moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the harvest count. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 5, spring of year 29

Ursula won 85 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 85 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 6, autumn of year 29

Matthias came by asking about the missing shipment. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Ursula moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the old tunnels. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 7, summer of year 29

Ursula was hired to carry a sack of salt from the Falls Diner to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 5 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 43 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Ursula was hired to carry a iron kettle from the Falls Diner to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 8, summer of year 29

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 9, winter of year 29

The weather turned. Ursula moved the hand bell indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the rumour of a second well. Ursula found a coil of rope half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula repaired the bolt of linen at the Falls Diner for Zora, who paid in 88 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 10, spring of year 29

A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 11, spring of year 29

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the new curfew reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 12, winter of year 29

Tiberius came by asking about the census. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula was hired to carry a cracked compass from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 13, spring of year 29

Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula won 62 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula found a hand bell half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 14, spring of year 29

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 15, autumn of year 29

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula found a wax seal half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 16, autumn of year 29

A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 65 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 25 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short.

Entry 17, autumn of year 29

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the old tunnels. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula found a bundle of letters half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 18, autumn of year 29

Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 89 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Ursula won 19 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 19, autumn of year 29

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Nadira came by asking about who really won the regatta. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula won 30 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash.

Entry 20, winter of year 29

Ursula repaired the signal flag at the community radio shack for Fitzgerald, who paid in 29 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Sunniva came by asking about the singing at the docks. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 21, autumn of year 29

Ursula won 42 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 22, autumn of year 29

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula found a spool of wire half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 23, summer of year 29

Ursula spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 39 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 24, spring of year 29

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula was hired to carry a glass float from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 25, winter of year 29

The weather turned. Ursula moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the singing at the docks. The weather turned. Ursula moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the harvest count. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. The weather turned. Ursula moved the hand bell indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the singing at the docks.

Entry 26, spring of year 29

Hollis came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula found a hand bell half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 27, autumn of year 29

Rumours about the tax on doors reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 28, summer of year 29

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 84 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 29, summer of year 29

Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 37 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 30, winter of year 29

At Pinecrest High, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At Pinecrest High, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 29 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Ursula was hired to carry a coil of rope from Pinecrest High to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 31, spring of year 29

Nadira came by asking about the harvest count. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula repaired the brass lantern at the Falls Diner for Hamish, who paid in 27 dollars and a long story about the census.

Entry 32, summer of year 29

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Soren came by asking about the comet. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 33, winter of year 29

Delphine came by asking about the new curfew. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula repaired the coil of rope at the shuttered paper mill for Fenwick, who paid in 60 dollars and a long story about the census. Ursula found a copper pipe half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the shuttered paper mill, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 34, winter of year 29

Ursula repaired the brass lantern at the community radio shack for Phaedra, who paid in 71 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. At the community radio shack, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 35, winter of year 29

Anouk came by asking about the old tunnels. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula was hired to carry a cracked compass from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 71 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 36, summer of year 29

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula found a copper pipe half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula found a bundle of letters half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 37, winter of year 30

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached Pinecrest High. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At Pinecrest High, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 38, summer of year 30

Ursula was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula found a bolt of linen half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula was hired to carry a wax seal from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 39, spring of year 30

Ursula was hired to carry a signal flag from Pinecrest High to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ignatius came by asking about who really won the regatta. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 80 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 40, spring of year 30

At the community radio shack, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. At the community radio shack, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Corvina came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 41, summer of year 30

The weather turned. Ursula moved the wax seal indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the missing shipment. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 76 of everything, except the copper pipe, which is always short. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 10 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short.

Entry 42, winter of year 30

Ursula found a spool of wire half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 43, spring of year 30

Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. The weather turned. Ursula moved the glass float indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the new curfew. Ursula found a copper pipe half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 44, spring of year 30

The weather turned. Ursula moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the rumour of a second well. At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 45, spring of year 31

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula was hired to carry a cracked compass from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ursula found a ledger half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Ursula moved the spool of wire indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the quarantine.

Entry 46, autumn of year 31

Ursula was hired to carry a iron kettle from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ignatius came by asking about the singing at the docks. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 47, summer of year 31

At the community radio shack, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula won 26 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 48, summer of year 31

Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula was hired to carry a tin whistle from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 49, spring of year 31

Ursula repaired the glass float at the Falls Diner for Marisol, who paid in 2 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Ursula closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula repaired the bolt of linen at the Falls Diner for Brigid, who paid in 18 dollars and a long story about the comet. Ursula was hired to carry a copper pipe from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 50, spring of year 31

Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 45 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula won 26 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula found a sextant half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 51, spring of year 31

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 52, autumn of year 31

Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 53, summer of year 32

Ursula repaired the grain scale at Route 12 gas station for Orsolya, who paid in 29 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Ursula repaired the wax seal at Route 12 gas station for Umberto, who paid in 7 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula repaired the hand bell at Route 12 gas station for Astrid, who paid in 34 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 54, summer of year 32

A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula repaired the brass lantern at the shuttered paper mill for Kenji, who paid in 40 dollars and a long story about the new curfew. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 55, autumn of year 32

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula found a hand bell half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula won 39 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Nkechi came by asking about the harvest count. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Pinecrest High, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 56, spring of year 32

At the shuttered paper mill, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the shuttered paper mill. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 57, spring of year 32

Quillon came by asking about the tax on doors. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the Falls Diner, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Ursula was hired to carry a clockwork bird from the Falls Diner to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 58, summer of year 32

Ursula repaired the spool of wire at the Falls Diner for Calloway, who paid in 34 dollars and a long story about the comet. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 59, winter of year 32

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 68 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short.

Entry 60, autumn of year 32

Ursula found a sack of salt half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula found a signal flag half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ysolde came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 61, autumn of year 32

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 62, summer of year 32

Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 3 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. The weather turned. Ursula moved the ledger indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the comet. Ursula was hired to carry a tin whistle from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 63, autumn of year 32

Ursula repaired the oilskin map at Route 12 gas station for Osric, who paid in 18 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula was hired to carry a bundle of letters from Route 12 gas station to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 58 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short.

Entry 64, spring of year 32

Ursula won 44 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. A dispute over who really won the regatta flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula found a coil of rope half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Fitzgerald came by asking about the harvest count. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 65, spring of year 32

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 41 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 66, summer of year 32

At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real signal flag from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the tariff on salt reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 67, winter of year 32

Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 38 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula was hired to carry a copper pipe from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 68, spring of year 32

A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 24 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 69, spring of year 33

Ursula repaired the ledger at the Falls Diner for Jorah, who paid in 50 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. Ursula won 4 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula won 74 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Nikolai came by asking about the comet. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 70, winter of year 33

Ursula was hired to carry a tin whistle from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula found a copper pipe half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 71, spring of year 33

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 3 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short. Ursula was hired to carry a brass lantern from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 72, winter of year 33

Ursula repaired the oilskin map at the Falls Diner for Imogen, who paid in 60 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 73, summer of year 34

Valentin came by asking about the singing at the docks. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula won 29 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. The weather turned. Ursula moved the ledger indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the harvest count. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula won 53 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash.

Entry 74, summer of year 34

At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 29 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. Ursula found a hand bell half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 75, summer of year 34

Ursula won 5 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula won 63 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 76, summer of year 34

At the shuttered paper mill, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. At the shuttered paper mill, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. At the shuttered paper mill, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 77, summer of year 35

A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Halcyon came by asking about who really won the regatta. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula was hired to carry a signal flag from Route 12 gas station to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 78, summer of year 35

Ursula repaired the copper pipe at Route 12 gas station for Astrid, who paid in 84 dollars and a long story about the quarantine. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 79, winter of year 35

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Sixten came by asking about the tax on doors. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula was hired to carry a cracked compass from Pinecrest High to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 80, spring of year 35

Ursula closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 60 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Ursula closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 81, summer of year 35

Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 37 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the new curfew. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Ursula moved the ledger indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about who really won the regatta.

Entry 82, summer of year 35

Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 80 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula was hired to carry a sextant from the Falls Diner to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 83, spring of year 35

Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula won 78 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 84, winter of year 35

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the harvest count reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 85, autumn of year 35

Rumours about the missing shipment reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Ursula moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the price of lamp oil. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 86, summer of year 35

Ursula won 22 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. The weather turned. Ursula moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the comet. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 87, autumn of year 35

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula was hired to carry a cracked compass from the community radio shack to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 88, winter of year 35

Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula repaired the ledger at the Falls Diner for Brigid, who paid in 4 dollars and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. A dispute over the census flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Delphine came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 89, spring of year 36

A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. At the Falls Diner, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Ursula found a iron kettle half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Xiomara came by asking about the tax on doors. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 90, spring of year 36

Ursula won 39 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 68 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 91, winter of year 36

Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula repaired the hand bell at the community radio shack for Vesna, who paid in 15 dollars and a long story about the harvest count.

Entry 92, winter of year 36

Ursula found a spool of wire half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 93, autumn of year 36

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula won 27 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the census and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Rumours about the quarantine reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 94, autumn of year 36

Ursula won 53 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the census and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 95, winter of year 36

Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula was hired to carry a glass float from the shuttered paper mill to Pinecrest High without opening it, and mostly succeeded. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 96, winter of year 36

Ursula repaired the copper pipe at Pinecrest High for Teodora, who paid in 59 dollars and a long story about the harvest count. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula repaired the pair of spectacles at Pinecrest High for Baptiste, who paid in 7 dollars and a long story about the old tunnels. Ursula closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 97, winter of year 37

Ursula won 77 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula repaired the sack of salt at the Falls Diner for Freya, who paid in 86 dollars and a long story about the old tunnels. Ursula found a bundle of letters half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 98, winter of year 37

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the missing shipment. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Ursula moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the price of lamp oil. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula was hired to carry a hand bell from the Falls Diner to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 99, spring of year 37

Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. At Pinecrest High, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 100, autumn of year 37

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Sixten came by asking about the comet. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula was hired to carry a copper pipe from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Ursula moved the hand bell indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 101, spring of year 38

Ursula was hired to carry a copper pipe from Route 12 gas station to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ursula found a coil of rope half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 102, winter of year 38

Rumours about the new curfew reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. The weather turned. Ursula moved the glass float indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the right way to mend a net. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 103, winter of year 38

Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula won 60 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the shuttered paper mill; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 104, winter of year 38

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 105, autumn of year 38

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula found a copper pipe half-buried near the shuttered paper mill and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 106, winter of year 38

Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula repaired the spool of wire at Pinecrest High for Gideon, who paid in 41 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks.

Entry 107, winter of year 38

At the Falls Diner, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. The weather turned. Ursula moved the grain scale indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the missing shipment. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the missing shipment. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 108, spring of year 38

At Pinecrest High, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Ursula found a sack of salt half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 109, spring of year 39

Ursula won 64 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula found a ledger half-buried near the community radio shack and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula repaired the sack of salt at the community radio shack for Zora, who paid in 89 dollars and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 110, autumn of year 39

Ursula repaired the signal flag at the shuttered paper mill for Umberto, who paid in 86 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. Ursula closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula was hired to carry a coil of rope from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 22 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short.

Entry 111, autumn of year 39

Ursula was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from Pinecrest High to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached Pinecrest High. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula was hired to carry a bolt of linen from Pinecrest High to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 112, spring of year 39

Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula won 11 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 113, winter of year 40

Ursula came by asking about the census. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula won 87 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Xavier came by asking about the census. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 114, spring of year 40

Ursula found a copper pipe half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Jasper came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula won 75 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash.

Entry 115, summer of year 40

Ursula spent the day counting stock at Pinecrest High: 84 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Ursula was hired to carry a spool of wire from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 116, autumn of year 40

Rumours about the missing shipment reached the Falls Diner. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Jorah came by asking about the missing shipment. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the Falls Diner, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 117, winter of year 40

Tiberius came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 118, autumn of year 40

Ursula was hired to carry a oilskin map from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At Pinecrest High, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 119, autumn of year 40

Ursula won 18 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Route 12 gas station; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 120, autumn of year 40

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula was hired to carry a hand bell from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the census flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula was hired to carry a tin whistle from the Falls Diner to the community radio shack without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 121, spring of year 41

At the community radio shack, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Ursula closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. The weather turned. Ursula moved the wax seal indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the rumour of a second well. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 86 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 27 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short.

Entry 122, spring of year 41

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the comet. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula found a copper pipe half-buried near the Falls Diner and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 123, winter of year 41

At Route 12 gas station, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 11 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Ursula closed early, walked to Pinecrest High, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. The weather turned. Ursula moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 124, winter of year 41

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the shuttered paper mill, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tax on doors. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Eamon came by asking about the comet. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 125, winter of year 42

Caspian came by asking about the singing at the docks. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. The weather turned. Ursula moved the glass float indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the new curfew. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 126, summer of year 42

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the Falls Diner, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the quarantine. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A dispute over the census flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 127, winter of year 42

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 128, winter of year 42

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the missing shipment. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the tax on doors reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula won 82 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash.

Entry 129, winter of year 43

Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 17 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula won 88 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash.

Entry 130, autumn of year 43

Ursula was hired to carry a clockwork bird from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula closed early, walked to the Falls Diner, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 131, winter of year 43

Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula repaired the brass lantern at Pinecrest High for Ingrid, who paid in 15 dollars and a long story about the census. At Pinecrest High, Ursula taught Wren how to tell a real oilskin map from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance.

Entry 132, summer of year 43

Ursula was hired to carry a copper pipe from the shuttered paper mill to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Ignatius came by asking about the tax on doors. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula won 62 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash.

Entry 133, winter of year 43

Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula repaired the bundle of letters at the shuttered paper mill for Astrid, who paid in 26 dollars and a long story about the comet. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right.

Entry 134, summer of year 43

Ursula won 6 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula repaired the coil of rope at the community radio shack for Rurik, who paid in 32 dollars and a long story about the tax on doors. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 42 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the community radio shack; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 135, summer of year 43

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula found a grain scale half-buried near Route 12 gas station and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula repaired the copper pipe at Route 12 gas station for Lucienne, who paid in 24 dollars and a long story about who really won the regatta. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 22 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short.

Entry 136, winter of year 43

Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 40 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Ursula repaired the copper pipe at the community radio shack for Sable, who paid in 85 dollars and a long story about the tariff on salt. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula won 26 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula was hired to carry a spool of wire from the community radio shack to the Falls Diner without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 137, summer of year 44

A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the shuttered paper mill: 90 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. Ursula repaired the ledger at the shuttered paper mill for Wilhelmina, who paid in 29 dollars and a long story about the singing at the docks. Zelda came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead. Ursula repaired the brass lantern at the shuttered paper mill for Zelda, who paid in 90 dollars and a long story about the missing shipment.

Entry 138, spring of year 44

Ursula won 38 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ursula found a sextant half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 139, autumn of year 44

Ursula closed early, walked to the community radio shack, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside Pinecrest High; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 140, winter of year 44

the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the harvest count. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Ursula found a bolt of linen half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ursula found a sextant half-buried near Pinecrest High and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 141, summer of year 45

The weather turned. Ursula moved the sextant indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the singing at the docks. Ursula was hired to carry a wax seal from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Ursula moved the sextant indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about who really won the regatta. Ursula was hired to carry a brass lantern from Pinecrest High to the shuttered paper mill without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Greta came by asking about who really won the regatta. Ursula said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 142, spring of year 45

Ursula closed early, walked to the shuttered paper mill, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached Route 12 gas station. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 143, winter of year 45

Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 87 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Ursula won 76 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula repaired the brass lantern at Route 12 gas station for Sable, who paid in 20 dollars and a long story about the tariff on salt. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula spent the day counting stock at Route 12 gas station: 3 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short.

Entry 144, winter of year 45

Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. A dispute over the census flared up between Ursula and Hyacinth outside the Falls Diner; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the Falls Diner: 75 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 145, winter of year 46

Ursula closed early, walked to Route 12 gas station, and watched the lights come on. Turnip followed at a distance. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Ursula suspects Wren and is probably right. Ursula spent the day counting stock at the community radio shack: 22 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. The weather turned. Ursula moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Turnip, and wrote three lines to Nikolai about the price of lamp oil.

Entry 146, summer of year 46

Ursula won 67 dollars from Hyacinth on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on midnight apple and onion hash. Ursula was hired to carry a spool of wire from the community radio shack to Route 12 gas station without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Ursula for the password to the workshop. Ursula laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about the price of lamp oil. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Lumen Falls town council sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Ursula read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 147, winter of year 46

Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the community radio shack. Ursula pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Ursula repaired the bolt of linen at the community radio shack for Percival, who paid in 25 dollars and a long story about the price of lamp oil. Nikolai visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.