

Brigid Norwood

Character Dossier

Gentle and slow to trust bookbinder of the Frostwall garrison on the northern border

Overview

Brigid Norwood is a bookbinder living in the Frostwall garrison on the northern border. Brigid is 58 years old, originally from Anselm, and is known around the east rampart as gentle and slow to trust. In conversation Brigid gives directions by landmark, never by street name.

Background

Brigid arrived in the Frostwall garrison on the northern border 14 years ago after leaving Anselm under circumstances Brigid describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Frostwall Legion; the second was the one that stuck. Today Brigid works as a bookbinder near the quartermaster's stores and is paid, when paid at all, in iron pennies.

Brigid learned the trade from Ursula Greywind, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Brigid's life is with Olwen Brightmoor, over a matter neither will explain. The person Brigid trusts most is Ulla Vasquez-Moor.

Current goal: to win the harvest fair for the fifth time. Greatest fear: owing anything to the Frostwall Legion.

Personality and speech

Temperament: gentle and slow to trust.

Speech pattern: Brigid gives directions by landmark, never by street name.

Tells: when lying, Brigid mentions Clementine the hawk for no reason.
