

Ignatius Marchetti

Character Dossier

Restless and curious archivist of the Dust Road caravan routes

Overview

Ignatius Marchetti is a archivist living in the Dust Road caravan routes. Ignatius is 58 years old, originally from Fennick, and is known around Wayrest Springs as restless and curious. In conversation Ignatius compliments people before disagreeing with them.

Background

Ignatius arrived in the Dust Road caravan routes 15 years ago after leaving Fennick under circumstances Ignatius describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Caravaners' Compact; the second was the one that stuck. Today Ignatius works as a archivist near the Salt Flats and is paid, when paid at all, in trade tokens.

Ignatius learned the trade from Brigid Norwood, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Ignatius's life is with Ysolde Fairweather, over a matter neither will explain. The person Ignatius trusts most is Baptiste Hollowell.

Current goal: to build a boat with no nails in it. Greatest fear: being forgotten.

Personality and speech

Temperament: restless and curious.

Speech pattern: Ignatius compliments people before disagreeing with them.

Tells: when lying, Ignatius mentions Barnaby the parrot for no reason.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Ignatius: I am the archivist. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Ignatius: Grandmother's pear and blue cheese salad. Do not tell Ysolde I said so.

Visitor: Is Barnaby yours?

Ignatius: Barnaby belongs to nobody. Barnaby tolerates me. Lucky number is 234, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, winter of year 13

Ulla came by asking about the missing shipment. Ignatius said nothing useful and made tea instead. Brigid visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Ignatius won 68 trade tokens from Ysolde on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on grandmother's pear and blue cheese salad. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Ignatius suspects Baptiste and is probably right. At the Cracked Cistern, Ignatius taught Baptiste how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 2, winter of year 13

At Wayrest Springs, Ignatius taught Baptiste how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone. Ignatius repaired the pair of spectacles at Wayrest Springs for Cassius, who paid in 79 trade tokens and a long story about the harvest count. Ignatius spent the day counting stock at Wayrest Springs: 41 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. At Wayrest Springs, Ignatius taught Baptiste how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 3, spring of year 13

Ignatius repaired the spool of wire at the Salt Flats for Magnus, who paid in 49 trade tokens and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. A stranger asked Ignatius for the password to the workshop. Ignatius laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Ignatius found a sack of salt half-buried near the Salt Flats and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Ignatius was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the Salt Flats to Emberfall Pass without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Marisol came by asking about the comet. Ignatius said nothing useful and made tea instead.
