

Teodora Oakhurst

Character Dossier

Stubborn, principled and tired tram conductor of the Frostwall garrison on the northern border

Overview

Teodora Oakhurst is a tram conductor living in the Frostwall garrison on the northern border. Teodora is 45 years old, originally from the Ninth Terrace, and is known around the east rampart as stubborn, principled and tired. In conversation Teodora speaks in short, clipped sentences and dislikes being rushed.

Background

Teodora arrived in the Frostwall garrison on the northern border 29 years ago after leaving the Ninth Terrace under circumstances Teodora describes differently every time. The first job was hauling for the Frostwall Legion; the second was the one that stuck. Today Teodora works as a tram conductor near the quartermaster's stores and is paid, when paid at all, in iron pennies.

Teodora learned the trade from Lucienne Brightmoor, who still drops by unannounced. The longest-running feud in Teodora's life is with Nkechi Irongate, over a matter neither will explain. The person Teodora trusts most is Leocadia Duskmere.

Current goal: to teach one apprentice who actually listens. Greatest fear: crowds that go quiet all at once.

Personality and speech

Temperament: stubborn, principled and tired.

Speech pattern: Teodora speaks in short, clipped sentences and dislikes being rushed.

Tells: when lying, Teodora mentions Bramble the ferret for no reason.

Verified facts

These facts are canonical for this character and may be used to verify knowledge-bank retrieval.

Full name	Teodora Oakhurst
Role	tram conductor
Home	the Frostwall garrison on the northern border
Hometown	the Ninth Terrace
Age	45
Favourite dish	hand-rolled roast root vegetables
Pet	Bramble, a ferret

Lucky number	619
Workshop password	jade-fable
Mentor	Lucienne Brightmoor
Rival	Nkechi Irongate
Closest friend	Leocadia Duskmere

Secret

Teodora keeps a list of everyone who has ever been kind to them, and repays each one eventually.

Sample dialogue

Visitor: What do you do here?

Teodora: I am the tram conductor. Has been that way longer than you have been asking questions.

Visitor: What is your favourite thing to eat?

Teodora: Hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Do not tell Nkechi I said so.

Visitor: Is Bramble yours?

Teodora: Bramble belongs to nobody. Bramble tolerates me. Lucky number is 619, if you were about to ask.

Chronicle

Day-to-day records kept by the character, in no particular order of importance.

Entry 1, autumn of year 20

Teodora found a ledger half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora found a brass lantern half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the old tunnels. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 2, winter of year 20

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 12 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 3, summer of year 20

Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the east rampart to the frozen moat without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora found a copper pipe half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 4, winter of year 20

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A dispute over the comet flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the quartermaster's stores; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora repaired the hand bell at the quartermaster's stores for Calloway, who paid in 54 iron pennies and a long story about the tax on doors. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the old tunnels. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 5, summer of year 21

Fitzgerald came by asking about the comet. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the new curfew flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the east rampart; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora found a hand bell half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 6, summer of year 21

Teodora closed early, walked to the signal tower, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 7, spring of year 21

Hollis came by asking about the harvest count. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the signal tower; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora repaired the pair of spectacles at the signal tower for Zelda, who paid in 17 iron pennies and a long story about the rumour of a second well. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the old tunnels. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 8, summer of year 21

A dispute over the census flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Rumours about the comet reached the frozen moat. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 57 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 9, winter of year 21

the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora found a hand bell half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 10, spring of year 21

Teodora won 10 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 61 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short.

Entry 11, winter of year 21

Teodora repaired the bundle of letters at the signal tower for Hamish, who paid in 60 iron pennies and a long story about the singing at the docks. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora won 65 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Rumours about the new curfew reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Teodora moved the wax seal indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 12, winter of year 21

Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the east rampart: 56 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Teodora repaired the glass float at the east rampart for Greta, who paid in 87 iron pennies and a long story about the comet. Rumours about the comet reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 13, spring of year 22

Teodora was hired to carry a sextant from the signal tower to the east rampart without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Umberto came by asking about the quarantine. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the signal tower to the east rampart without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 39 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 14, winter of year 22

Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 41 of everything, except the wax seal, which is always short. Teodora repaired the bolt of linen at the frozen moat for Ravi, who paid in 70 iron pennies and a long story about the singing at the docks. Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 15, summer of year 22

Teodora found a clockwork bird half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora found a ledger half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 16, winter of year 22

Rumours about the tax on doors reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora repaired the sextant at the quartermaster's stores for Zelda, who paid in 20 iron pennies and a long story about the old tunnels. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real iron kettle from a fake one by weight alone. At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 17, summer of year 23

Teodora repaired the sack of salt at the frozen moat for Rowan, who paid in 79 iron pennies and a long story about the new curfew. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 49 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 18, winter of year 23

Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the quartermaster's stores to the signal tower without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 19, autumn of year 23

Isadora came by asking about who really won the regatta. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora repaired the bolt of linen at the frozen moat for Soren, who paid in 19 iron pennies and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora found a copper pipe half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 20, spring of year 23

Seraphine came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 21, autumn of year 24

At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora won 49 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the quartermaster's stores: 26 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short.

Entry 22, summer of year 24

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Delphine came by asking about the comet. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the quartermaster's stores to the east rampart without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the quartermaster's stores: 53 of everything, except the signal flag, which is always short. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 23, spring of year 24

Teodora found a oilskin map half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the frozen moat to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 47 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short.

Entry 24, winter of year 24

At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora found a wax seal half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Teodora moved the wax seal indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the quarantine. At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 25, summer of year 25

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Petra came by asking about the singing at the docks. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the comet reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 26, summer of year 25

Teodora closed early, walked to the signal tower, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the quartermaster's stores: 11 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Teodora repaired the brass lantern at the quartermaster's stores for Zelda, who paid in 64 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the quartermaster's stores: 18 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 27, summer of year 25

The weather turned. Teodora moved the bundle of letters indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the tariff on salt. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the quartermaster's stores: 28 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the quartermaster's stores; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 28, summer of year 25

Rumours about the census reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the right way to mend a net flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the signal tower; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Corvina came by asking about the tax on doors. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Calloway came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 29, autumn of year 26

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 85 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short. Teodora won 16 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 30, summer of year 26

Soren came by asking about the census. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the harvest count. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 31, spring of year 26

Jasper came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora repaired the spool of wire at the frozen moat for Liora, who paid in 55 iron pennies and a long story about who really won the regatta. A dispute over the tax on doors flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 32, autumn of year 26

Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the frozen moat. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora repaired the sack of salt at the frozen moat for Soren, who paid in 14 iron pennies and a long story about the tax on doors. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the frozen moat. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 33, winter of year 27

At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora found a brass lantern half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 34, summer of year 27

The weather turned. Teodora moved the tin whistle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the new curfew. At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora found a bundle of letters half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 35, spring of year 27

the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the old tunnels. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 25 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short.

Entry 36, autumn of year 27

Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora found a sack of salt half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 37, winter of year 27

Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Ignatius came by asking about the tax on doors. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 38, summer of year 27

A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the quartermaster's stores; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 39, summer of year 27

At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora found a hand bell half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a iron kettle on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 40, spring of year 27

Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Nikolai came by asking about who really won the regatta. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Rumours about the census reached the frozen moat. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 41, winter of year 27

Teodora repaired the bolt of linen at the signal tower for Teodora, who paid in 42 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora found a brass lantern half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 42, summer of year 27

At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real coil of rope from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora repaired the sextant at the signal tower for Octavia, who paid in 4 iron pennies and a long story about the quarantine. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 43, summer of year 27

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 44, spring of year 27

Teodora found a wax seal half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the mess hall to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the mess hall; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 45, summer of year 27

Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Rumours about the census reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Kestrel came by asking about the old tunnels. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora won 27 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 46, winter of year 27

Teodora repaired the bundle of letters at the east rampart for Petra, who paid in 7 iron pennies and a long story about the old tunnels. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora repaired the sextant at the east rampart for Hollis, who paid in 23 iron pennies and a long story about the quarantine. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the east rampart: 88 of everything, except the bundle of letters, which is always short.

Entry 47, spring of year 27

Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the quartermaster's stores; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 48, autumn of year 27

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora won 81 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 49, winter of year 27

Teodora won 28 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. A dispute over the harvest count flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the mess hall; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora found a hand bell half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Wilhelmina came by asking about the comet. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 41 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short.

Entry 50, autumn of year 27

Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora was hired to carry a bolt of linen from the frozen moat to the signal tower without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 51, spring of year 27

Teodora won 62 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora repaired the grain scale at the frozen moat for Torvald, who paid in 15 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment. Teodora closed early, walked to the east rampart, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 52, winter of year 27

Kestrel came by asking about who really won the regatta. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a pair of spectacles on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Seraphine came by asking about the census. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 53, winter of year 28

At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora repaired the sack of salt at the east rampart for Bram, who paid in 80 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment. Teodora was hired to carry a sack of salt from the east rampart to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 54, winter of year 28

Teodora repaired the bolt of linen at the quartermaster's stores for Katarina, who paid in 67 iron pennies and a long story about the tax on doors. At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora repaired the brass lantern at the quartermaster's stores for Hyacinth, who paid in 13 iron pennies and a long story about the old tunnels. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 55, spring of year 28

Teodora found a ledger half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 43 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 56, summer of year 28

Teodora won 40 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora was hired to carry a sack of salt from the east rampart to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora won 77 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the price of lamp oil and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 57, summer of year 28

At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real cracked compass from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora was hired to carry a wax seal from the signal tower to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora found a copper pipe half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 58, spring of year 28

At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 90 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real ledger from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 59, winter of year 28

Teodora was hired to carry a hand bell from the signal tower to the frozen moat without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Thaddeus came by asking about the new curfew. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 60, spring of year 28

The weather turned. Teodora moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the tariff on salt. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the mess hall, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 61, winter of year 28

Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora won 72 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 75 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real spool of wire from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 62, summer of year 28

Teodora found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Olwen came by asking about the singing at the docks. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora closed early, walked to the signal tower, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Teodora moved the ledger indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the right way to mend a net.

Entry 63, autumn of year 28

Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora found a coil of rope half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora won 85 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 64, autumn of year 28

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rumours about the harvest count reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the quartermaster's stores: 24 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Teodora repaired the sextant at the quartermaster's stores for Tallulah, who paid in 61 iron pennies and a long story about the tax on doors. Teodora won 8 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 65, summer of year 29

Teodora closed early, walked to the signal tower, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora was hired to carry a grain scale from the quartermaster's stores to the signal tower without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 66, summer of year 29

Teodora repaired the ledger at the east rampart for Osric, who paid in 12 iron pennies and a long story about the census. Teodora was hired to carry a iron kettle from the east rampart to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone. At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora was hired to carry a wax seal from the east rampart to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 67, summer of year 29

Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 85 of everything, except the iron kettle, which is always short. Teodora found a glass float half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 68, winter of year 29

Teodora came by asking about the harvest count. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora won 6 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the harvest count and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora was hired to carry a signal flag from the east rampart to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora was hired to carry a brass lantern from the east rampart to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 69, summer of year 29

Teodora repaired the signal flag at the frozen moat for Lucienne, who paid in 6 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment. Teodora was hired to carry a copper pipe from the frozen moat to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Teodora moved the cracked compass indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the census. Teodora found a bundle of letters half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora repaired the glass float at the frozen moat for Katarina, who paid in 59 iron pennies and a long story about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 70, autumn of year 29

A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the old tunnels. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 71, spring of year 29

Teodora found a bundle of letters half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the mess hall, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora won 38 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Oduya came by asking about the tariff on salt. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 72, spring of year 29

Teodora closed early, walked to the east rampart, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora repaired the wax seal at the frozen moat for Viggo, who paid in 78 iron pennies and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Teodora won 4 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 73, winter of year 29

the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the comet reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the missing shipment reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Rumours about the price of lamp oil reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 74, autumn of year 29

Thaddeus came by asking about the comet. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Teodora moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about who really won the regatta. Teodora repaired the copper pipe at the mess hall for Baptiste, who paid in 38 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment. Teodora repaired the spool of wire at the mess hall for Wendeline, who paid in 10 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment.

Entry 75, summer of year 29

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 28 of everything, except the coil of rope, which is always short. Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the signal tower; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora repaired the coil of rope at the signal tower for Nkechi, who paid in 71 iron pennies and a long story about the harvest count.

Entry 76, summer of year 29

Fitzgerald came by asking about the tax on doors. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora won 45 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. The weather turned. Teodora moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora won 29 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 77, spring of year 30

Teodora repaired the spool of wire at the quartermaster's stores for Xavier, who paid in 13 iron pennies and a long story about the old tunnels. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the census. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Amadou came by asking about the comet. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora closed early, walked to the signal tower, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 78, spring of year 30

Teodora was hired to carry a sack of salt from the quartermaster's stores to the frozen moat without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Teodora moved the signal flag indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the right way to mend a net. The weather turned. Teodora moved the clockwork bird indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about who really won the regatta. Teodora won 63 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 79, spring of year 30

the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora found a coil of rope half-buried near the quartermaster's stores and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the rumour of a second well for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 80, winter of year 30

Teodora found a sextant half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora won 46 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the census and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. The weather turned. Teodora moved the wax seal indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the census.

Entry 81, summer of year 31

Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora repaired the copper pipe at the signal tower for Olwen, who paid in 59 iron pennies and a long story about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 32 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Teodora repaired the sextant at the signal tower for Quentin, who paid in 5 iron pennies and a long story about the harvest count. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 48 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short.

Entry 82, spring of year 31

Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Imogen came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the east rampart; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 83, summer of year 31

Teodora repaired the clockwork bird at the mess hall for Benedikt, who paid in 32 iron pennies and a long story about the singing at the docks. Teodora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the mess hall to the signal tower without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora closed early, walked to the signal tower, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 28 of everything, except the glass float, which is always short.

Entry 84, winter of year 31

Teodora found a spool of wire half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora won 77 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Someone left a hand bell on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 85, spring of year 31

Ursula came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 86, summer of year 31

Teodora won 42 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora was hired to carry a brass lantern from the mess hall to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 87, winter of year 31

Teodora found a bolt of linen half-buried near the quartermaster's stores and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora was hired to carry a oilskin map from the quartermaster's stores to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 88, summer of year 31

The weather turned. Teodora moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the harvest count. A dispute over the comet flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the east rampart; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 89, winter of year 32

The weather turned. Teodora moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the rumour of a second well. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 90, summer of year 32

The weather turned. Teodora moved the glass float indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the harvest count. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 30 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 91, summer of year 32

Teodora repaired the sextant at the quartermaster's stores for Hyacinth, who paid in 59 iron pennies and a long story about the singing at the docks. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the quartermaster's stores: 76 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short. Teodora was hired to carry a brass lantern from the quartermaster's stores to the signal tower without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora repaired the wax seal at the quartermaster's stores for Viggo, who paid in 38 iron pennies and a long story about the harvest count. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 92, winter of year 32

Teodora was hired to carry a clockwork bird from the frozen moat to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the frozen moat to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora repaired the clockwork bird at the frozen moat for Jasper, who paid in 31 iron pennies and a long story about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 93, spring of year 32

Gustav came by asking about the singing at the docks. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora won 74 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 30 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Rumours about the comet reached the mess hall. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 94, summer of year 32

the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the right way to mend a net. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Katarina came by asking about the old tunnels. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. The weather turned. Teodora moved the sack of salt indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the tax on doors.

Entry 95, autumn of year 32

Teodora won 48 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora won 63 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 96, winter of year 32

Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Someone left a clockwork bird on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the quartermaster's stores; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real bundle of letters from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 97, winter of year 32

Teodora was hired to carry a glass float from the signal tower to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the comet for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora won 47 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 98, spring of year 32

At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 75 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Teodora found a ledger half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 99, autumn of year 32

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 11 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. Teodora was hired to carry a bundle of letters from the mess hall to the frozen moat without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Rumours about whether the bridge will hold reached the mess hall. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the census flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the mess hall; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 100, spring of year 32

Freya came by asking about the old tunnels. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real hand bell from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora won 21 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 101, winter of year 32

Teodora won 59 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the rumour of a second well and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Someone left a wax seal on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 102, spring of year 32

Teodora found a bolt of linen half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 13 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short. Ysolde came by asking about the tariff on salt. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 103, autumn of year 32

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rhoswen came by asking about the old tunnels. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora repaired the sack of salt at the mess hall for Emeric, who paid in 63 iron pennies and a long story about the singing at the docks. Teodora repaired the sack of salt at the mess hall for Ysolde, who paid in 29 iron pennies and a long story about whether the bridge will hold.

Entry 104, winter of year 32

A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the mess hall; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 88 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short.

Entry 105, summer of year 33

The weather turned. Teodora moved the grain scale indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the comet. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the quarantine. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a copper pipe on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora was hired to carry a sack of salt from the quartermaster's stores to the east rampart without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 106, winter of year 33

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the east rampart: 46 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Rumours about who really won the regatta reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the tax on doors for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora won 24 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the right way to mend a net and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 107, summer of year 33

Rumours about the missing shipment reached the frozen moat. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the rumour of a second well. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora won 77 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 108, winter of year 33

Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora closed early, walked to the signal tower, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 23 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. Rumours about the comet reached the mess hall. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Teodora moved the brass lantern indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the tariff on salt.

Entry 109, spring of year 34

Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora won 31 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Someone left a sack of salt on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 110, summer of year 34

Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. A dispute over the census flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the quartermaster's stores; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora found a sextant half-buried near the quartermaster's stores and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 111, summer of year 34

Teodora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the signal tower to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora won 78 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about whether the bridge will hold for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 112, summer of year 34

A dispute over the rumour of a second well flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 81 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short.

Entry 113, spring of year 34

Rowan came by asking about the quarantine. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the new curfew for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 81 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 114, summer of year 34

Teodora won 49 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the old tunnels and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. A dispute over whether the bridge will hold flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 115, spring of year 34

Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora repaired the sextant at the quartermaster's stores for Percival, who paid in 28 iron pennies and a long story about the new curfew. A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the quartermaster's stores; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 116, spring of year 34

Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the right way to mend a net for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 66 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Marisol came by asking about the price of lamp oil. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora found a oilskin map half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora found a brass lantern half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 117, autumn of year 35

Teodora found a brass lantern half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora found a brass lantern half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 8 of everything, except the brass lantern, which is always short. Someone left a ledger on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the mess hall. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 118, autumn of year 35

Teodora repaired the signal flag at the frozen moat for Nikolai, who paid in 32 iron pennies and a long story about the rumour of a second well. Teodora won 5 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the census and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora was hired to carry a hand bell from the frozen moat to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real clockwork bird from a fake one by weight alone. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about who really won the regatta for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 119, spring of year 35

Teodora was hired to carry a coil of rope from the mess hall to the signal tower without opening it, and mostly succeeded. At the mess hall, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real sack of salt from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora closed early, walked to the signal tower, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora repaired the ledger at the mess hall for Thaddeus, who paid in 25 iron pennies and a long story about the price of lamp oil. At the mess hall, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real bolt of linen from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 120, winter of year 35

Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. The weather turned. Teodora moved the signal flag indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the tax on doors. Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 121, spring of year 36

Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. At the mess hall, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. At the mess hall, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real brass lantern from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 56 of everything, except the sextant, which is always short.

Entry 122, autumn of year 36

Nkechi came by asking about the tax on doors. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 62 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 123, spring of year 36

Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Someone left a bundle of letters on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora found a sack of salt half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 39 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short.

Entry 124, summer of year 36

Teodora repaired the bolt of linen at the mess hall for Leocadia, who paid in 5 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment. A dispute over the price of lamp oil flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the mess hall; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora found a signal flag half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 79 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short.

Entry 125, winter of year 37

the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the tariff on salt. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the rumour of a second well reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the east rampart; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Nkechi came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 126, spring of year 37

Teodora won 14 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 43 of everything, except the oilskin map, which is always short.

Entry 127, summer of year 37

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 75 of everything, except the clockwork bird, which is always short. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the mess hall to the frozen moat without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Corvina came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Someone left a signal flag on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 128, autumn of year 37

At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Teodora won 52 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 129, spring of year 37

Hollis came by asking about the census. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora closed early, walked to the east rampart, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Teodora moved the copper pipe indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about who really won the regatta. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora repaired the bolt of linen at the signal tower for Hollis, who paid in 45 iron pennies and a long story about the harvest count.

Entry 130, spring of year 37

Someone left a grain scale on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. The weather turned. Teodora moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the singing at the docks. Teodora won 69 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the new curfew and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. At the quartermaster's stores, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real glass float from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 131, winter of year 37

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 81 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 78 of everything, except the bolt of linen, which is always short. Teodora was hired to carry a spool of wire from the signal tower to the east rampart without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 132, winter of year 37

Teodora was hired to carry a coil of rope from the frozen moat to the east rampart without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the comet. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora was hired to carry a signal flag from the frozen moat to the east rampart without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 133, winter of year 38

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 52 of everything, except the sack of salt, which is always short. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the singing at the docks. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora found a tin whistle half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the census flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the signal tower; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 134, summer of year 38

Teodora was hired to carry a oilskin map from the east rampart to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora found a tin whistle half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora closed early, walked to the mess hall, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 135, autumn of year 38

The weather turned. Teodora moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the new curfew. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora repaired the iron kettle at the quartermaster's stores for Vesna, who paid in 73 iron pennies and a long story about the comet. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the missing shipment. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 136, summer of year 38

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the signal tower: 88 of everything, except the tin whistle, which is always short. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora was hired to carry a signal flag from the signal tower to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora was hired to carry a coil of rope from the signal tower to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A dispute over the tariff on salt flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the signal tower; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 137, spring of year 38

Teodora won 39 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the missing shipment and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a tin whistle on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Gideon came by asking about the quarantine. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 138, summer of year 38

Rumours about the old tunnels reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora won 24 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Someone left a sextant on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora found a iron kettle half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora was hired to carry a pair of spectacles from the signal tower to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 139, autumn of year 38

Teodora won 71 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about whether the bridge will hold and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the quartermaster's stores to the frozen moat without opening it, and mostly succeeded.

Entry 140, summer of year 38

Teodora found a sextant half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora found a tin whistle half-buried near the frozen moat and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora was hired to carry a copper pipe from the frozen moat to the quartermaster's stores without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Umberto came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 141, winter of year 38

the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Rumours about the harvest count reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 142, spring of year 38

Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora closed early, walked to the quartermaster's stores, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. The weather turned. Teodora moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the comet. Fenwick came by asking about the harvest count. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 143, summer of year 38

The weather turned. Teodora moved the hand bell indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the price of lamp oil. Caspian came by asking about the comet. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora won 43 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora was hired to carry a brass lantern from the frozen moat to the east rampart without opening it, and mostly succeeded. The weather turned. Teodora moved the coil of rope indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about who really won the regatta.

Entry 144, summer of year 38

Teodora repaired the iron kettle at the signal tower for Gideon, who paid in 13 iron pennies and a long story about the tax on doors. Teodora found a hand bell half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Teodora closed early, walked to the east rampart, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 145, spring of year 38

Teodora was hired to carry a signal flag from the east rampart to the signal tower without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora won 56 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tax on doors and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora won 46 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the tariff on salt and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 146, summer of year 38

At the east rampart, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real copper pipe from a fake one by weight alone. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the tariff on salt for an hour and parted better friends than before. Valentin came by asking about the census. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 147, spring of year 38

Teodora found a iron kettle half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A dispute over the comet flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the mess hall; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora repaired the spool of wire at the mess hall for Kestrel, who paid in 42 iron pennies and a long story about the missing shipment. The weather turned. Teodora moved the sextant indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the census.

Entry 148, spring of year 38

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Magnus came by asking about whether the bridge will hold. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 149, spring of year 39

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the quarantine for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora found a clockwork bird half-buried near the quartermaster's stores and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 150, summer of year 39

Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the singing at the docks for an hour and parted better friends than before. Teodora was hired to carry a coil of rope from the east rampart to the frozen moat without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Someone left a spool of wire on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora was hired to carry a iron kettle from the east rampart to the frozen moat without opening it, and mostly succeeded. Teodora found a cracked compass half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 151, summer of year 39

A dispute over the singing at the docks flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the east rampart; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the harvest count. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. Teodora found a clockwork bird half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 152, summer of year 39

Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the harvest count. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the census. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Someone left a oilskin map on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the east rampart; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding.

Entry 153, winter of year 39

A dispute over the missing shipment flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora repaired the tin whistle at the frozen moat for Olwen, who paid in 55 iron pennies and a long story about the price of lamp oil. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not.

Entry 154, spring of year 39

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora won 44 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the singing at the docks and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 155, spring of year 39

Rumours about the singing at the docks reached the mess hall. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora found a grain scale half-buried near the mess hall and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. The weather turned. Teodora moved the ledger indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the new curfew. Teodora won 62 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the census and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora closed early, walked to the east rampart, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance.

Entry 156, winter of year 39

Teodora won 63 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about who really won the regatta and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Teodora repaired the coil of rope at the frozen moat for Fenwick, who paid in 26 iron pennies and a long story about the new curfew. A dispute over the census flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Someone left a bolt of linen on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right.

Entry 157, spring of year 40

Rumours about the new curfew reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora won 13 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the quartermaster's stores: 8 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Lysander came by asking about the new curfew. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 158, summer of year 40

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the east rampart: 59 of everything, except the ledger, which is always short. Someone left a brass lantern on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Someone left a coil of rope on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Teodora won 44 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the comet and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables.

Entry 159, summer of year 40

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the harvest count. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Kenji came by asking about the rumour of a second well. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead.

Entry 160, summer of year 40

Teodora was hired to carry a glass float from the frozen moat to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora was hired to carry a tin whistle from the frozen moat to the mess hall without opening it, and mostly succeeded. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the frozen moat: 51 of everything, except the cracked compass, which is always short.

Entry 161, autumn of year 41

Quentin came by asking about the right way to mend a net. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora repaired the sack of salt at the quartermaster's stores for Gideon, who paid in 53 iron pennies and a long story about the comet. Someone left a cracked compass on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Rumours about the quarantine reached the quartermaster's stores. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it.

Entry 162, summer of year 41

Teodora spent the day counting stock at the east rampart: 26 of everything, except the spool of wire, which is always short. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the east rampart: 89 of everything, except the grain scale, which is always short. Teodora repaired the glass float at the east rampart for Rosalind, who paid in 86 iron pennies and a long story about the comet. Teodora found a cracked compass half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 163, winter of year 41

At the mess hall, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real tin whistle from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the old tunnels reached the mess hall. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the mess hall: 52 of everything, except the hand bell, which is always short.

Entry 164, spring of year 41

Teodora found a brass lantern half-buried near the signal tower and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Rosalind came by asking about the old tunnels. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora closed early, walked to the frozen moat, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real pair of spectacles from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 165, winter of year 42

Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the census for an hour and parted better friends than before. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the quarantine. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the tax on doors. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table.

Entry 166, autumn of year 42

At the signal tower, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real wax seal from a fake one by weight alone. Rumours about the comet reached the signal tower. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. A dispute over the old tunnels flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the signal tower; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. Teodora repaired the brass lantern at the signal tower for Quentin, who paid in 57 iron pennies and a long story about the new curfew.

Entry 167, spring of year 42

At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real sextant from a fake one by weight alone. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the missing shipment for an hour and parted better friends than before. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the price of lamp oil for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 168, winter of year 42

the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about who really won the regatta. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora won 23 iron pennies from Nkechi on a bet about the quarantine and spent all of it on hand-rolled roast root vegetables. Ursula came by asking about the old tunnels. Teodora said nothing useful and made tea instead. Teodora repaired the bundle of letters at the frozen moat for Kenji, who paid in 32 iron pennies and a long story about the census.

Entry 169, summer of year 42

A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. Teodora closed early, walked to the east rampart, and watched the lights come on. Bramble followed at a distance. At the frozen moat, Teodora taught Leocadia how to tell a real grain scale from a fake one by weight alone.

Entry 170, summer of year 42

The weather turned. Teodora moved the iron kettle indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the harvest count. Rumours about the new curfew reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora spent the day counting stock at the east rampart: 88 of everything, except the pair of spectacles, which is always short. The weather turned. Teodora moved the oilskin map indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the tariff on salt.

Entry 171, autumn of year 42

Someone left a glass float on the doorstep with no note. Teodora suspects Leocadia and is probably right. Rumours about the right way to mend a net reached the east rampart. Teodora pretended not to care and then asked everyone about it. Teodora found a pair of spectacles half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it.

Entry 172, winter of year 42

Teodora found a brass lantern half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. A stranger asked Teodora for the password to the workshop. Teodora laughed and said it was written on the wall, which it is not. the Frostwall Legion sent a notice about the missing shipment. Teodora read it twice, folded it into a square and used it to level a table. Teodora found a signal flag half-buried near the east rampart and spent the evening trying to work out who had lost it. Lucienne visited unannounced. They argued about the harvest count for an hour and parted better friends than before.

Entry 173, autumn of year 42

A dispute over the comet flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. A dispute over the quarantine flared up between Teodora and Nkechi outside the frozen moat; it ended, as usual, with neither of them conceding. The weather turned. Teodora moved the pair of spectacles indoors, fed Bramble, and wrote three lines to Lucienne about the price of lamp oil. Teodora repaired the clockwork bird at the frozen moat for Delphine, who paid in 73 iron pennies and a long story about the new curfew.